SOVIET READY FOR PEACE TALK

16, Congressmen, 2,650 GIs On Hand For Latest A-Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P)—One of the spring series most brilliant and powerful atomic bombs exploded with golden brilliance before dawn today as 16 congressmen and 2,650 troops from all over the nation looked on.

Shortly after the blast, touched off from a 300-foot tower at 6:30 a. m. EST, troops climbed from their trenches 4,000 yards from ground zero and advanced in a tactical maneuver.

The shot, at the Atomic Energy Commission's Yucca Flat test site 75 miles northwest, was a thing of beauty as seen from here. As it flared a skyliff of fleecy clouds, invisible in the darkness an instant before, were momentarily printed with gold.

Observers at the control tower, where the congressmen were stationed, 10 miles from ground zero, said the shock wave at their vantage point was the strongest of the series. It broke light bulbs and window panes in outbuildings.

The flash was seen as far away as San Francisco, 600 miles distant.

A Navy AD-2 Skyraider drone plane, flown into the churning atomic cloud, crashed. Such craft carry instruments to obtain scientific data, which is relayed to the ground by radio.

Fifty-two aircraft, including six

B-47 Stratojets and six B-50s, were in the air on missions.

The Army maneuver was conducted by two combat teams of 1,200 men each. With them in the trenches were 250 military observers. And in trenches an undisclosed distance closer to ground zero were eight volunteer observers.

The Army said there were no casualties.

The shock wave rattled windows here but was not as strong as that of a previous air-drop shot, which broke a store window.

Besides the spectacular flash, which rivaled last week's beauty, observers were treated to an unusual cloud formation.

As the cloud shot upward a succession of dazzling white icecaps formed on its top. Two of these spread outward around the soaring mushroom stem, forming a double collar effect.

The troop maneuver in this, the seventh explosion of the series, was one of the largest ever held at the proving ground.

As blast preparations were made Friday, a Defense Department spokesman said two atomic cannons are to start here in about 10 days from Fort Sill, Okla. Observers look for the cannon tests to be made about May 21, when the last explosion in the series is contemplated.

Relatives Of Yankee POWs Gain New Hope In Exchange

By The Associated Press
Hundreds of American families whose loved ones still are prisoners of the enemy in Korea found new hope today.

In the first six days of the repatriation of disabled prisoners, the Communists had exceeded their originally pledged total of 120 Americans by 16. Seventeen were included in Friday's exchange. And the Reds promised 13 more Americans would be among those returned today.

A proposal to continue the exchange indefinitely was being considered by negotiators at Panmunjom. Some observers there said they thought the recent attitude of the Reds might indicate they would accept such a plan.

As word of the additional releases brought fresh hope to the silent homes where the prayed-for, familiar name has not been heard as among those first freed, the fortunate families combined their prayers of thanksgiving with expressions of hope for others.

"We wish every other mother and father of a boy missing over there could have the same joy as ours," said Mr. and Mrs. Arley D. Rose. Their son, Marine Sgt. Donald A. Rose, 21, had been missing since Oct. 6.

"I hope and pray they can all come home," said Mrs. David Hilyard of Columbus, Ind. Her son, Bill, was shot down on his first bombing mission in 1951.

For some the impact of the good news was almost too much.

Mrs. Bernice Daniel, 22, collapsed when her brother brought her word that her husband, Sgt. James F. Daniel of Covington, Ga., had been freed.

"She had taken his prisonment bravely, but when I told her he had been exchanged, she was so happy she fainted away," the brother, Arthur B. Miller, said. Mrs. Daniel has been living in Alameda, Calif., for a year.

In Redlands, Calif., Mrs. Vera Rose, mother of Sgt. Donald A. Rose, 21, a Marine, gasped "thank God" and burst into tears when she heard the news of her son's release.

Mrs. Margaret Christie, Montezuma, Ind., also wept with joy when she learned her husband, Mr. Sgt. Gilbert Christie, was among those returned.

"It's wonderful news, but I won't really believe it until I see him," she said. Christie was captured Nov. 2, 1950, by the Chinese Reds shortly after they entered the war.

Bank Holdup Try Stumping St. Louis Cops

ST. LOUIS (P)—The death of one bandit and the escape of another today handicapped investigation of what almost became St. Louis' ugliest bank robbery.

Frank Vito, 25, killed himself rather than surrender. Two other bandits and police Cpl. Robert Heitz were wounded in the wild gun battle here Friday.

In a satchel on the bank floor was $143,000 which had been scooped up hurriedly by the bandits, all from Chicago.

The fourth member of the team, known to police only as "George," was away in a car as the first police arrived in answer to the bank's alarm.

Officers found the car today abandoned on a street about six blocks from the bank. It was identified through Illinois plates.

However, no trace of the missing bandit was found.

About 50 employees and customers huddled the floors as bullets whizzed overhead. Outside, motorists fled their cars for cover.

Still unexplained were the chalked words "will be rob—" on the outside of the bank's rear wall.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Raymond Bruntrager quoted Walter Scholl, 28, wounded in the back, as saying the robbery was planned in Chicago about two weeks ago.

The other wounded man, believed by police to be John W. Frederick, 50, is in critical condition in a hospital.

4 Persons Killed In Bucyrus Crash

BUCYRUS (P)—Four persons were killed and four others seriously injured today in a two-car collision on U. S. 30 three miles east of Bucyrus. The dead:

Marine Sgt. William J. Houck, 23, Holgate, O.; Cpl. Lea McMurtan, 24, Parker, Ind.; Kenneth E. Baum, 34, Lima, O., and a small girl, believed to be the daughter of Baum.

Only one of the injured was positively identified. He is Salvatore Degastino, 60, of Lima. Officers said the others were tentatively identified as twin boys, believed to be Baum's sons, and a woman believed to be his wife.

POW Exchange Expected To Be Continued

84 More Allied Men Due To Be Freed By Communists Sunday

PANMUNJOM (P)—Another 100 Allied prisoners, including a bonus number of Americans, British and Turks, were freed today as the Communists kept their promise to continue the exchange of sick and wounded captives beyond the original figure.

The Reds said they would free 13 more Americans and 71 disabled South Koreans Sunday as truce negotiators return to this neutral zone for the first full dress armistice talks since last Oct. 8.

Seventeen Americans, four British, four Turks and 75 South Koreans came back today, bringing the total to the 600 the Reds said they would exchange in six days. But of the total:

136 were Americans, 16 more than promised.

32 were British, 12 more than promised.

15 were Turks, equal to the number of non-Koreans the Reds said they would exchange aside from British and Americans.

17 OTHERS included men from Colombia, Australia, Canada, South Africa, Greece, the Philippines and the Netherlands.

Both sides have said they would continue the exchange beyond the 600 originally pledged by the Reds and the 5,800 promised by the UN Command.

Neither side has said how many more it will trade, but some observers have speculated the exchange could go on indefinitely.

The UN Command proposed Friday that sick and wounded be exchanged continuously while hostilities continue. The Reds have not replied.

A South Korean lieutenant freed Saturday said the Communists held "more than a thousand seriously sick and wounded South Korean prisoners" near Manpo in North Korea.

There were no litter cases among the Americans, British and Turks exchanged Saturday. Some limped slightly, but otherwise all appeared well.

Ohio Youths Campaign For 18-Year Vote

COLUMBUS (P)—Votes for 18-year-olds and compulsory high school courses on sex and marriage seem almost sure of approval by the Ohio YMCA model legislature today or Sunday.

All candidates for governor, including the winner, Walter D. Gundel of Massillon, endorsed those measures.

The marriage bill pending before the young lawmakers proposes it be on a "non-scientific" level. Proponents included a clause giving the state the right to withhold funds from any school which failed to provide a course in sex and marriage. It also would provide no student could be graduated unless he had received a passing mark in the course.

Gundel campaigned on a platform of votes for 18-year-olds, increased old age benefits, a strong conservation program and tighter traffic laws.

Other officers elected were Ed Stanford of East Liverpool, lieutenant governor; Jim Simakis of Cleveland, speaker of the House; Lois Bricker of East Palestine, clerk of the Senate; Ronnie Klein of Columbus, clerk of the House; Charles Collins II of Cincinnati, chaplain of the Senate; and John Buchanan of Stouffville, chaplain of the House.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche spoke and Attorney General C. William O'Neill presided at a banquet at Ohio State University Friday.

6 Fliers Die In 2-Airplane Aerial Mishap

WESTHAMPTON, N. Y. (P)—A secret experimental flight by a B29 Superfort and an F84 Thunderjet ended in flaming disaster Friday, with the two craft carrying six crewmen to death.

The planes, flying together when they suddenly burst into flames high above Long Island, apparently collided. However, investigators said no one actually saw them come into contact.

Air Force spokesmen said the flight was of a "classified nature." The service denied an earlier report that the bomber was refueling the fighter in flight at the time of the crash.

The pilot of the jet and the five men aboard the Superfort were from the Wright Air Development Center at Dayton, O.

Both planes had taken off from a field at the Republic Aircraft Corp. in Farmingdale, N. Y., and winged eastward about 50 miles until they were over Great Peconic Bay, an arm of Long Island Sound cutting into the island about 100 miles from New York City.

The B29 hit the waters of the bay near the southern shore and sank, leaving only an oil slick. The jet fell into some woods on the south shore and burned.

None of the bodies of the bomber crew have been recovered. The jet pilot was thrown clear.

Farmers Warned Bugs At Work

COLUMBUS (P)—An Ohio State University extension specialist today warned Central Ohio farmers to unlimber their insect sprays and dusters.

T. H. Parks said the spittlebug, enemy of alfalfa and clover plants, is on the attack.

CRUISING SMOOTHLY and luxuriously aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg on the Potomac, 50 Korean war veterans are served coffee and doughnuts by a Red Cross worker. An estimated 1,000 vets will take the six-hour cruise from Washington to Quantico, Va., before the yacht is decommissioned July 1. Said Capt. J. T. Burke Jr., skipper of the Williamsburg, "I wish we could take a few hundred thousand ... It's the most distinguished group of passengers we ever had."

Businessmen Urge U.S. Shift Aid From Europe To Orient

WASHINGTON (P)—A team of 55 American businessmen has recommended the Eisenhower administration sharply reduce economic assistance to Western Europe but increase it to Communist-threatened Far East countries.

Responsible government officials also said the business leaders have urged the State Department to give complete control over all foreign aid programs and that the existing Mutual Security Agency be abolished.

These views have been given to MSA Director Harold Stassen as part of a 4,000-word report following survey of foreign aid operations in 14 countries.

Clarence Francis, chairman of the board of General Foods Corp., was the task force director of the business group which undertook the survey at Stassen's request.

The report concludes that American grant aid has accomplished its purpose of bettering economic conditions in Europe. A substantial cutback is recommended for nearly all countries, except West Berlin and divided Austria.

THE UNITED STATES Congress

appropriated $1,282,000,000 for defense support assistance to Western European nations for the 12 month period ending this June 30. This money is used to buy machinery, raw material, food, fuel and other supplies believed needed to help dollar-short governments increase military budgets needed for defense against communism.

The stepped-up economic aid to the Far East presumably would go to Formosa, the Philippines and the three Indochina states now battling against Communist rebel armies. These areas were the only Far East countries visited by the business executives.

The business survey strongly recommends that separate foreign aid missions abroad be eliminated and that each U. S. ambassador be given complete authority in making known American policy in all fields.

It is understood the business leaders urged steps be taken to encourage the flow of private American capital overseas to replace government grants, but no specific suggestions were made.

American foreign aid personnel are described in the report as highly competent and industrious for the most part. Nevertheless, it was recommended there be a reduction in the payroll.

Four Men Hurt When 2 Cars Smash Headon

Four men were injured in a headon collision of two autos late Friday on Route 23 about six miles north of Circleville.

Deputies Walter Richards and Carl White said the crash happened at about 10:30 p. m. on a curve in Little Walnut.

The deputies said a southbound auto operated by Russell Courts Jr., 18, of Circleville Route 3, was passing another auto when it collided head on with an auto operated north by Milburn Hoffman, 46, of Hilliards.

Force of the impact drove the Hoffman car back about 12 feet, deputies said. They added occupants of the Courts car estimated the auto's speed at about 65 miles per hour just before the crash.

MOST SERIOUSLY injured was Robert Ward Jr., 18, of Columbus, who was treated in Berger hospital for fractures of two ribs, multiple lacerations of his ear and face lacerations.

Front ends of both autos were demolished in the smashup. Courts was held Saturday in Pickaway County jail.

Deputy Kills Man In Bedroom Duel

WARREN (P)—Answering a complaint of a family quarrel, a wounded deputy sheriff shot and killed an unemployed shoe clerk Friday in a bedroom gun duel.

Deputies Albert E. Fisher and Dominic J. Patrick found the former clerk, Joseph Rummell, 33, in bed. They said he had been drinking. Fisher, 36, said Rummell yanked a revolver from under his pillow and shot him in the leg. The deputy said he tried to subdue the man by slamming him over the head with his gun butt, then shot him when Rummell tried to fire again.

Kremlin Gives Reply To Ike's Challenges

Some Of President's Conditions Rejected In Russian Statement

MOSCOW (P)—The Soviet Union agreed today to business-like discussions with the West on the great controversies troubling peace but flatly rejected what appeared to be some conditions laid down by President Eisenhower.

The Russian agreement was outlined in a statement carried across the entire front pages of Moscow's principal newspapers—Pravda, the organ of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee, and Izvestia, the organ of the Supreme Soviet.

The Soviet government will welcome any step of the American government or any other government if it is directed at the friendly settlement of difficult questions," the statement said.

"This is evidence," it continued, "of the readiness of the Soviet side for serious business-like discussions of outstanding problems."

The statement added that the Russians would participate in direct conversations and, when necessary, in negotiations through the United Nations.

ALTHOUGH IT was unsigned and entitled solely "On the Address of President Eisenhower," it seemed clear from the wording that it was correct to call the article a statement by the leadership of the Soviet Union.

It was clearly and definitely an answer to Eisenhower's April 16 speech.

In that address, the president challenged the new Soviet government to prove its peace overtures by agreeing to global disarmament and taking concrete steps to end the tensions that threaten World War III.

Eisenhower said the first step toward peace must be the establishment of an honorable armistice in Korea, followed by political discussions leading to free elections in a United Korea.

He also called for an end to Red aggression in Indochina and Malaya.

Embezzlement Admitted By Four In Court

CLEVELAND (P)—Four persons pleaded guilty in federal court here Friday to embezzlement charges.

They are Burner McKinley Banks, 55, assistant cashier of the Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank; Robert Skaggs, 28, a teller for the Citizens Bank & Savings Co. of Bucyrus; Mrs. Mary L. Calogero, assistant treasurer of the Hauserman Employees Federal Credit Union here; and John Krejsa, 48, treasurer of Our Lady of Good Counsel Paris Federal Credit Union here.

Frank E. Steel, an assistant U. S. attorney, said all but Mrs. Calogero have made full restitutions, payments and intends to repay all of the money.

Banks, with the Mansfield bank since 1918, was charged in connection with thefts from the bank amounting to $3,600 over a two-year period. He is married and the father of two children.

Skaggs was accused of being responsible for shortages of about $1,200 in the Bucyrus bank. Mrs. Calogero was blamed for a $1,000 shortage in the funds of the Hauserman credit union. Krejsa was charged with responsibility for shortages totaling $2,500 over a two-year period in the church credit union.

Probation officers will check the defendants' backgrounds before Judge Charles J. McNamee decides punishments.

Red Agitators Beaten In Camp

SEOUL (P)—The UN Prisoner of War Command said today Chinese prisoners on Cheju Island have turned on Red agitators inside their stockades in recent days. Fifteen agitators were beaten so severely that three died later, the command said.

Pro-Communist and anti-Communist groups of prisoners have clashed frequently, but mostly Red strong-arm squads have had the upper hand.

Cat Has Kittens Atop Phone Pole

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—A dog chased a cat up a telephone pole here and the cat had kittens. Four were born on the pole crossarms. Two fell off their precarious perch and were killed. A telephone lineman rescued the other two.

GIs Cut Down Red Try To Storm Lines

SEOUL (P)—Grim U. S. infantrymen, using bayonets, rifle butts and hand grenades, cut down about one-third of a 500 to 750-man Communist force that smashed against Allied lines today.

Fifty Chinese attackers who jumped into the American trenches were wiped out. In all, nearly 200 Reds were killed or wounded in three hours of bloody fighting.

The rest of the Red attack force scurried for cover under withering fire from the 3rd U. S. Infantry Division.

The Chinese tried twice to reinforce but a curtain of Allied artillery fire blocked each attempt.

In the air, Allied warplanes Friday marked up their third busiest single day of the Korean War. Jet and propeller-driven attackers smashed at the Communists with 1,370 sorties turning Red ground targets into smoking ruins.

U. S. Sabrejets shot down one Communist Mig jet and damaged three more, the Air Force reported.

The Navy disclosed that three Marine enlisted men and one U. S. naval officer were wounded, probably by Red shell fire, on an island off Wonsan, Red east coast port city. Three U. S. destroyers and a cruiser steamed to their rescue under heavy Red fire Thursday and evacuated one Marine.

The others returned to duty.

Morse Sets All-Time Mark For Senate Talk Marathon

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore) ended a 22-hour 26 minute speech at 10:06 a. m. EST today, thus becoming the undisputed long-distance champion of all the senators in history.

In an iron-man performance to dramatize the fight against the bill to establish state ownership of the oil-rich submerged coastal lands, he began a speech at 11:40 a. m. Friday.

Vice President Nixon arrived at 8:25 a. m. today to relieve Sen. Carson (R-Kan.) who had presided through the night. Morse wished Nixon "good morning" and kept going.

At 8:40 a. m. today he entered on his 22nd hour of talking.

In his remarks about the Tideland, Morse contended their rich oil yields should be for the benefit of the nation as a whole, especially for schools in poor income areas. The sponsoring bloc, backed by President Eisenhower, favors turning the entire thing to the coastal states involved.

THE WIRY senator, 51, admittedly weary but giving no hint of lady, and Austrian peace treaty, unification of Germany and independence for the East European satellites of Russia.

In Washington today, White House press secretary James A. Hagerty said there would be no comment until the full Pravda statement has been received by the U. S. government.
The Soviet statement sharply attacked some things Eisenhower said and many things that U. S. Secretary of State Dulles has said since the President made his appeal in speaking before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

REFERRING directly to Eisenhower's remarks, the Soviet statement accused him of trying to threaten the USSR with atomic war.
Eisenhower said the alternatives to true peace endeavors were: At worst "atomic war," at best, "a life of perpetual fear and tension."
The statement fully agreed with Eisenhower's plea for a lessening of tension and building peace but it accused him of not being very consistent in his remarks.
"In his address," it declared, "the president of the United States for some reason considered it possible to connect his proposals of peace with a whole series of preliminary conditions presented by him to the Soviet Union, although these claims are not reinforced by corresponding obligations from the side of the United States."
Making it clear it did not subscribe to or agree to many of these "conditions," the Soviet statement pointed out that Russia, too, has claims and ideas about what should be done.
The statement also took up Eisenhower on his remark that deeds, not words, are needed today by saying it is impossible not to agree with the president.
In other words, the Soviets say they want some deeds in addition to words from the United States to show it wants peace.

Leslie Pontius Recognized For Botanical Work

The late Leslie Pontius of Circleville, one of Ohio's most outstanding amateur botanists, was given special recognition Friday during the 62nd annual meeting of the Ohio Academy of Science in Ohio State University.
Pontius, a self-styled plant collector, was given recognition for his invaluable work through an address by Prof. William G. Gambill Jr.
Gambill spoke on the contributions of Pontius to systematic botanical data in Ohio. Upon his death about three years ago, the Pontius collection was taken up by Ohio universities, especially to OSU and Ohio University.
Attending Friday's special Academy program were his widow and Mrs. Emmett Barnhart of Circleville.

ed to be in fairly good physical condition.
The Americans included a Navy fighter pilot, an Air Force enlisted man, four Marines and 11 soldiers.
Everything was in readiness for the return of the top-level truce negotiators at 11 a. m. Sunday (9 p. m. Saturday, EST). Originally scheduled for Saturday, the meeting was postponed one day at the Communists' request.
ONLY ONE MAJOR issue stands in the way of an armistice. The UN Command refuses to return some 50,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners who have said they do not want to go home. The Communists have insisted on the return of all prisoners of war.
Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed last month that prisoners who refuse repatriation be turned over to a neutral country pending a decision on their future. He made it clear, however, that the Communists expect all of them ultimately to return home.
The UN Command in agreeing to resume the truce talks suggested Switzerland as the neutral, but re-emphasized that there can be no modification of its stand against forced repatriation. The talks were broken off last fall after failure to settle this point.

Public Power Fund Slashed Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee said today the Interior Department should quit competing with private enterprise in the field of power.
To put force into its recommendation, it asked the House to cut the department's budget for the fiscal year 1954 by slightly more than one-third of the amount former President Truman asked.
The recommendation was embodied in a bill carrying $404,863,239 to run the department for the year starting July 1. This is $202,473,161 less than Truman requested in January and $137,874,262 less than the department received this year.
Deep cuts were made in funds requested for transmission lines and power plants.

Alliance Writer Says Russ Women's Role 'Fascinating'

ALLIANCE, O. (AP)—The role of women in the big Moscow industrial plants was one of the things that "fascinated" an Ohio woman who made the recent visit to Soviet Russia with a group of American newspaper and radio people.
Mrs. Martha M. Hoiles, daughter-in-law of the publisher of the Alliance Review, Mrs. F. A. Hoiles, is writing a series of articles for the newspaper. A widow of Arthur Hoiles, former managing editor of the Review, Mrs. Hoiles is present in visiting a daughter in Germany.
describing the site of the Stalin Auto Works, which she was told employs an estimated 40,000 workers, Mrs. Hoiles said:
"After our welcome we started our tour of this immense plant, through the fumes and smoke of the 'blacksmith shop' where the iron pigs are melted into molten liquid ready to be poured into the moulds, and on into the foundry where I stood fascinated by a woman pouring large quantities of this fiery substance as casually as though she were pouring the batter of a cake into a pan."
"The Soviet type of streamlined production seems to be one thing in common in all the factories we have visited. The cars roll off the assembly line with the clock-like motion that the chocolate bars wrapped in bright paper covers, drop into packing boxes at the Red October Candy Factory.
"On our visit to Pravda, the Soviet Union's biggest newspaper, that same production was evident. The day's copies of the paper which has a daily circulation of 3½ million roll off the press in the court of about three and one-half hours. Not all the copies of the day's issue are printed in Moscow. Mats are flown to the country's 12 principal cities, from Kieve in European USSR, across the whole of European Eurasia in Khabarovsk in Soviet Far Eastern Siberia.
"In each of these factories, I found a high percentage of women workers are Stakhanovites who not only have met the quota set up by the factory, but have exceeded it. As an example, a linotype operator at Pravda has a record of 18 galleys for an eight-hour shift. The Pravda average for a linotype operator is 70,000 letters per eight hour shift, yet this Stakhanovite linotype operator has set a record of 120,000 letters during her eight hour day.
"The women's efficiency is a contributing factor to bringing the morning copy of Pravda out timely to its millions of readers throughout the Soviet Union.

'Passion To Give' Is Sermon Theme For First EUB

Continuing a denominational stewardship emphasis from Easter to Pentecost, First Evangelical United Brethren church Sunday will hear the Rev. Carl L. Wilson speak at the 9:30 a. m. unified worship service on the theme, "A Passion to Give."

The congregation shares in the order of worship through participation in the reaffirmation of a common faith in praise, doctrine and prayer and in singing hymns "I Gave My Life for Thee" and "A Charge to Keep I Have."

The church choir will sing an anthem, "Pardoning Grace," with Miss Lucille Kirkwood playing "Contemplation," "Impromptu Religioso" and "A Song of Gratitude" at the organ.

From scripture in II Corinthians 8:1-5, there are certain stewardship truths to substantiate the theme, "A Passion to Give." Of this topic Rev. Mr. Wilson says:

"St. Paul's experience with the Macedonian Churches as recorded in II Corinthians is a stewardship challenge. These people were professed followers of Christ. They had seen the light of Christianity in contrast to the darkness of paganism. This light had given them a sense of the larger fellowship that reached beyond themselves. Although their means were limited, they were concerned for others and sought opportunity to give, first of all, themselves and then their money that they might have the honor of supporting their brothers in Christ and extending the Kingdom of God beyond the confines of their own selves."

"When these Macedonian Christians began to count the blessings they received in the Faith, they became conscious of the need as it confronted the church and readily recognized the opportunities at their own doorstep. There was only one answer of how to meet these needs and opportunities and that was to dedicate themselves and their money to the Lord. This they did with the result they were possessed with a passion to give."

"Although we are separated by many miles and many years from these churches in Macedonia, we have shared in many of the same blessings of the gospel and we should be begging for the opportunity to give and should be praying for the blessing of the passion to give."

Children from the cradle roll through the junior age meet in the service center for Christian education instruction and Bible study at 9:30 a. m., and in junior church at 10:30 a. m. for worship.

Young people and adults will study a Bible lesson, "Paul's Conflict in Corinth."

'Strength' Theme Planned Sunday In Calvary EUB

"Our Source of Spiritual Strength" is the topic which the Rev. James A. Herbst of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church has chosen for his message Sunday in the morning worship hour.

This is the second in the series of messages upon the spiritual graces of life. For his text, the Rev. Mr. Herbst will use the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth verses of the tenth chapter of Hebrews, which say "and let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another."

The pastor will be assisted in the service by Sunday School Superintendent Dale DeLong, who will lead in the opening devotionals, and Miss Minnie Wilkerson, who will assist at the piano.

The children's department will meet in the Sunday school annex while the adults are in worship and then will engage in their own junior worship service during the adult class hour. The lesson which the adult school will study will be "Paul Faces Opposition."

In the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Herbst will deliver a religious service in Pickaway County jail. At 7 p. m. the finance committee of the church will meet in the Sunday school annex for their annual financial meeting.

Paul's Conflicts in Corinth

On his second missionary journey Paul went to Philippi, Greece, carrying the gospel to Europe. As there was no synagogue, he sought the river bank where Jews worshipped. A rich woman, Lydia, was converted there.

In Philippi Paul and Silas were beaten and thrown into prison. An earthquake broke open the prison doors. The keeper knelt at the disciples' feet in thanksgiving when he found no one had escaped.

Journeying to Athens, certain philosophers asked to hear about the new gospel. They took Paul to Mars Hill, where he, noting that they had built an altar to "The Unknown God," explained the gospel to them.

In Corinth Paul spoke boldly. Enemies seized him and took him before the Roman ruler, Gallio, who told the Jews that their religious differences were not in his province, and drove them out. MEMORY VERSE—I Corinthians 9:12.

Christ Church Theme To Be On 'Divine Platform'

"The Divine Platform of Unity" will be the theme for study Sunday during worship in the church of Christ, meeting at 159 E. Main St. This service will be preceded by a period of Bible study at 9:45 a. m.

"It was Christ's will that His followers all be one," says Evangelist Charles Cochran. "Therefore, to this end He prayed in John 17:20-21. And in order that His prayer might be answered He sent the Holy Spirit to reveal His plan and the only basis upon which true unity is possible, which is found in the Bible, the inspired word of God. Any substitute for the word of God results only in division rather than unity."

"The apostle Paul says in writing to the church at Ephesus: 'Endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all and in you all (Eph. 4:3-6).'"

"The 'one body,' which is the church (Col. 1:18), is expressive of unity in organization. 'One Spirit' designates unity in source of life, as it is the Spirit that makes alive the body (Jas. 2:26). 'One hope' unites us with the same expectation and desire for eternal life. 'One Lord' gives us unity in Christ as the source of authority in all religious teaching and practice."

"The 'one faith' unites us on the same message or system of doctrine, the gospel of Christ (Rom. 1:16; Jude 3). The 'one baptism' makes unity in practice; and the 'one God the Father' is descriptive of relationship and the right object of all true worship."

'God's Pattern' Is Sermon Theme For Methodists

"God's Pattern of Man" is the sermon theme to be presented Sunday during worship service in First Methodist church by the Rev. Robert Weaver.

The sermon will be based on the text in Ecclesiastes: "Fear God and keep His commandments; for this is the whole duty of man."

The development of the sermon will show how God has given man a pattern for living which would bring happiness to all of mankind. The man who feels that he is sufficient unto himself fools himself, for man in his own strength is not competent to meet the impact of life fully.

Another development will picture God as holding man responsible for following the laws of God. God's love for man demands that he hold man to the very letter of the law.

Mrs. Ervin Leist has chosen "Evening in the Cloisters," "Aubade" and "Song of Joy" as her organ selections for the service. The senior choir, directed by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Dwight Steele, member of the board of trustees, will present the 1953-54 budget to the congregation in a short stewardship message.

Text Of St. Mark Forms Basis For Lutheran Rites

The Rev. George L. Troutman will conduct the morning worship services Sunday in Trinity Lutheran church and afternoon services in Christ church.

By request, the Rev. Mr. Troutman will preach on the text from St. Mark 12:41-44. This portion of scripture tells of Jesus with his disciples at the Temple treasury as they observe the rich and the poor giving their gifts to the Lord.

It is then that the poor widow drops in her mite which Christ commends so highly since she gave her all to the Lord whereas the rich gave only of their abundance.

The Rev. Mr. Troutman will develop the thought of this text under the theme "A Celebrated Contribution." He will point out "Jesus continually observes our worship, one part of which is our giving to Him of our tithes and offerings. And in our contributions he is desirous that we give willingly with a sense of thankfulness for the abundant blessings that God has showered upon us. Our personal contribution to the Lord is the acid test of our true faith in Him as Creator and Redeemer."

Senior choir will sing an anthem "O Ye That Loveth the Lord" and head the congregation in the singing of "While Yet The Morn Is Breaking." "Faith of Our Fathers, Living Still," "We Give Thee But Thy Own" and "God of Nations, Throned Above."

During the morning service, there will be a congregational meeting for the purpose of electing a delegate and alternate to the Ohio District convention of the American Lutheran church. Also to be discussed will be the Ohio District Luther League convention's request that they hold their annual session next Thanksgiving weekend in Circleville's Trinity Lutheran church.

Immediately following the service, the Lutheran Brotherhood will meet in the old Sunday School room.

'Portrait' Theme Is Readied For Presbyterians

Where is the man who has found a way of life that completely satisfies his soul—a way of living that would fill us with the joy of contentment? Who can tell us what kind of life is most worth living for the largest number of people?

In a sermon, "Portrait Of A Christian," the Rev. Donald Mitchell of Presbyterian church, Sunday will give a possible answer. A restudy of the Beatitudes of Jesus gives a surprising new understanding of how the seeming barriers to "life at its best" can be cast aside for us today, and the way opened for a new and blessed career ahead for every man.

Scripture supporting this "good news" is recorded in the Gospel of St. Matthew, chapter five, and in Luke, chapter six.

The choir will sing an anthem, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," directed by Mrs. Clark Will. Mrs. Theodore L. Huston at the organ, will play "The Bells Of St. Anne de Beaupre," "Reverie" and "Jubilate Deo."

Congregational singing will include the hymns "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee," "Come Ye Disconsolate" and "Jesus, I My Cross Have Taken."

In the afternoon, all senior members of Westminster Fellowship will leave to attend a Youth Presbytery rally, which will include the afternoon service of the Charles Templeton meetings in Columbus

MYF Groups Here To Be Host For 'Spring Rally'

Members of both Junior and Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowships of First Methodist church will be hosts Sunday afternoon and evening to youths from all of the 62 charges of the Chillicothe District.

Meeting at 3 p. m., the youth groups will have a short business meeting of the district with reports to be given by officers and leaders. Feature of the "Spring Rally" will be election of district officers for the new year. Delegates from the MYF groups will elect the new officers.

Dr. George Wilson, district superintendent, will install the new officers Sunday afternoon.

Mothers of the local youth will prepare a low-cost meal to be served in the dining room.

Dr. Charles Sauer, returned missionary from Korea, will be the speaker for the closing service of the meeting at 6:15 p. m. The public is invited to attend the closing session.

In the evening, the Couples Club invites the public to a program of two Moody Bible Institute films in color, to be shown in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. "The Voice of the Deep" and "Hidden Treasure" are the titles of these films.

'DENATIONALIZATION'

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has shown that he purposes to carry out as expeditiously as circumstances permit his campaign promise to get government out of competition with private industry, consistent with the public interest.

The first move in that direction was taken when Commerce Secretary Weeks in February said he would offer for sale or lease the Inlands Waterways Corporation, which provides barge service on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The corporation, established in 1924, operates 210 barges and 21 tow boats, but it has never made a profit.

Abolishing wage and price controls and getting agreement by congressional leaders for early termination of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were also essentially parts of the administration's "denationalization" program.

These actions are followed by Mr. Eisenhower's special message recommending that Congress adopt legislation for selling the government's 21 synthetic rubber-producing plants.

Mr. Eisenhower said he acted at the suggestion of the RFC, which has had charge of the plants, though private companies have operated them on a fee basis. As to the necessary legislation, the President merely stated it should insure fair competition, with any sale made on terms that will guarantee ready availability of the plants to produce rubber in time of emergency.

FUTURE OF KOREA

IF THE WAR IN KOREA ends and peace of a sort is established, what will be the future of the nation which has suffered so greatly from Communist intrigue and aggression? There is a wide difference of opinion.

For some reason the 38th parallel was designated as the dividing line between North and South Korea. But the suggestion that this become a permanent dividing line evokes strenuous objections in Washington and in Korea.

Senator Taft says such an agreement would be highly unsatisfactory. Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea, says any settlement which leaves the country divided will be considered by his people as appeasement of the Communists. Such a boundary line, he maintains, would not prevent the Communists from harassing South Korea at will.

But a united Korea can be achieved only if Moscow agrees to such a step. An armistice will not bring peace if the Communists remain in control of half of Korea.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Peace feelers may be designed to discover if the adversary is receptive, or they may be designed for propaganda purposes to weaken unity among other nations. Peace feelers are unnecessary if nations have honorable purposes, as they can make their intentions known through the ordinary channels of diplomatic communications.

Actually, Soviet Russia is represented at the capitals of the Great Powers by ambassadors who can speak to the head of each state directly. Also, Russia is fully represented at the United Nations where its emissaries often speak too long and too often. Therefore, the indirect peace feeler is an unnecessary device if the intent is to accomplish peace.

President Eisenhower has taken a more direct route to peace, namely, he has stated the maximum American terms in clear language. It cannot be assumed that Russia will accept the maximum American position; therefore, it is to be expected that on May 1, the day of revolutionary celebration, either Malenkov or Molotov will state Russia's maximum terms. If that happens, a conference will undoubtedly be arranged, perhaps of foreign ministers, that is, Dulles, Eden and Molotov, or it might include the representatives of other countries, to see whether a common basis may be found.

President Eisenhower's maximum terms for peace are just. His speech on the subject was a magnificent state paper of the highest order. Should it become the basis for discussion for peace, the greatest progress in the direction of peace will have been made since 1943. At the Tehran (1943) and Yalta (1945) conferences, the basis was war, not peace.

If the Russians really mean peace, they are not under any compulsion to accept President Eisenhower's terms as stated; they do have a moral obligation to bargain on the basis of his terms or to state their own. Peace is not readily attainable in the complexities of an armed world. But if peace is desired, a contractual basis can be found. In other periods in human history, ways to peace have been found. During the 19th century, such statesmen as Talleyrand, Stein, Bismarck and even Castlereagh sought peace and found it for 99 years.

If we can, in this generation, find 99 years of peace, or even 50 years of peace, it will be a godsend. In terms of international relations, peace means an avoidance of general war; it means a period during which such wars as occur are limited.

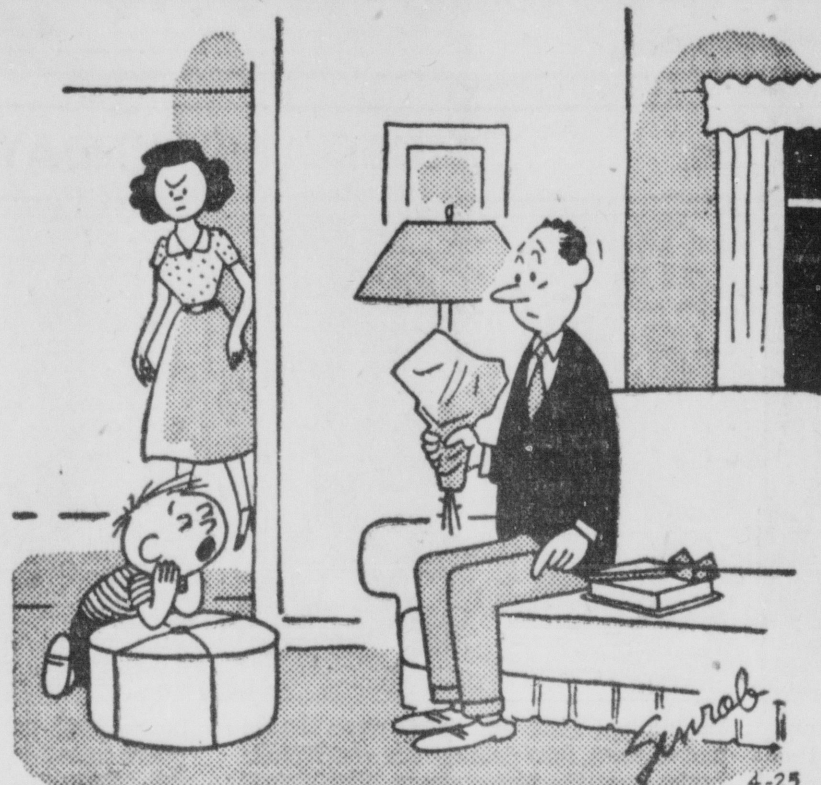

The Russians will undoubtedly object most to two points in Eisenhower's speech: 1. "The enforcement of all these agreed limitations and prohibitions by adequate safeguards, including a practical system of inspection under the United Nations. . . . 2. "Any nation's right to a form of government and an economic system of its own choosing is inalienable."

"Any nation's attempt to dictate to other nations their form of government is indefensible."

Point two involves definite violations of the Yalta and Potsdam Agreements, which provided for democratic elections under supervision of the Allied powers in those countries which are now known as satellites. That would, in effect, open Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and per-

A Malignant Disease of Blood That May Destroy Bone Tissue

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
WE have all heard of leukemia, a disease in which the white blood cells multiply to so great a degree that they overwhelm the entire blood system.

Another malignant disease of the blood which is not too uncommon but which we hear very little about, is known as multiple myeloma. In this disease, there is a pathological overgrowth of a certain type of blood cell which is known as the plasma cell.

These plasma cells overgrow to such a great degree that they may destroy the bone tissue. So much bone may be destroyed by these cells that a fracture or break may occur without any injury to cause it. The person may fracture his ankle or thigh while walking.

This disease can also affect the kidneys and can cause permanent damage. It changes the urine's composition. In fact, one of the tests used for diagnosis of this disease is made by heating the urine up to a certain temperature. At this temperature it will become very cloudy if multiple myeloma is present, due to a certain type of protein substance being precipitated.

To Confirm Diagnosis
However, to prove the diagnosis, usually a portion of the bone marrow may be removed with a special needle and examined under a microscope. The overgrowth of the plasma cells, if seen in the specimen, makes the diagnosis absolute.

There may be a great deal of bone pain with this disease. Usually, the spine and the legs are affected. The pain also may be in the chest, in the groin and over the kidney area.

The plasma cells, the overgrowth of which causes the disease, multiply to such a degree that they cause anemia, which is characteristic of this disease.

It is interesting that multiple myeloma is a disease of advanced middle age. Eighty per cent of the persons having this disease are over forty, and the average age of the patients having this disease is fifty-five years. In most cases, male patients outnumber the female.

Much research has been done in trying to cure multiple myeloma. Drugs such as radioactive phosphorus, antimony, ACTH and cortisone have been used. All have been found wanting, although some help has been found in certain cases with these drugs.

Recently, a new drug known as ethyl carbamate has been used. In some of the cases given this drug, the bone has reformed its calcium and the persons have been relieved of the severe and unbearable pain of the disease.

It is believed that if earlier diagnosis of this blood disease is made, many more cases will be helped and life in many of these cases can be prolonged for many years.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
H. Y.: Is there any particular diet of help for someone with high blood pressure?

Answer: A diet that is low in salt or sodium is sometimes helpful in treating high blood pressure. Since most foods contain salt, a diet of rice and fruits may be advisable for several weeks. Better consult your doctor.

ation of the Leesburg military hero led to assignment of Marshall to tasks for which he was entirely unfit and unequipped.

Marshall knew nothing of foreign affairs and the inter-play of nonmilitary forces when he was named as special ambassador to China and as secretary of state. He had to take the advice of "experts" foisted on him, and their advice was invariably bad. The same applies to his decision that the Korean War would last only twelve months, which is largely responsible for current ammunition shortages.

MAIL—"Are letters to members of Congress effective?" inquires Mrs. E. H. T. of Springfield, Mass. "Are they read?"

Answer: It depends on the individual member, and also on the letter writer. A canny and responsible congressman reads his mail carefully, or has it briefed for him, if it is a sensible and sincere communication. It is an excellent way of keeping in touch with constituents' sentiments and reaction. If he doesn't read intelligent mail, or even unintelligent letters, he is inviting defeat.

CHAPTER TWENTY

IT WAS all set up, of course, the cab driver was briefed and ready to finger me.

But he cleared his throat, and stared at me, frowning. Tentatively, he said, "Say Mister, aren't you the guy I . . ."

Hogan slammed his fist down on his desk. "Speak up," he said.

"Well, he could tell me if he was the guy," the driver said, with an injured look at the lieutenant.

"I told you to give me a yes or no," Hogan said, rising and striding up to the driver. "You trying to get cute with me?"

"No, honest I ain't."

"What's all this about?" I said.

Hogan said to the caddy, "Get out of here," and walked back to his desk. The driver looked around as if he'd mislaid something, then stared at me, his eyes bright with anger. "You can go, too, wise guy."

But let me tell you something; keep out of my way. If you got any ideas about doing police work in this town, forget 'em. You'll think you backed into a buzz-saw if you don't. Got that?"

"Sure, I've got it."

"You stick in town till you hear from me again."

"All right, I'm not going anywhere."

"On your way, wise guy."

Devlin took me down to the street. "You missed a story in that paper," he said.

"Yeah? Which one?"

"The one about Jane Nelson's brother. The kid named Bob. He took the gas-pipe. They found him in his home this morning, head in the oven."

"A sex crime, eh?"

"What do you mean?"

"That's what they said about his sister's death."

"You're a cute guy."

I looked at him, and let him see the unfriendliness in my face. "I'm a bad guy," I said.

"You heard Hogan. Don't play around with our business."

"What is your business?"

"Beat it, wise guy." He came up close to me, his eyes and face mean. "I said beat it." He was carrying his right hand at his side, knotted into a fist.

I grinned at him, knowing he'd swing. He brought his right fist up in an upper-cut, but I turned sideways, flattening my arm against my body. His fist exploded on the point of my elbow—and the point of an elbow is nothing to hit with your bare fist.

He groaned and backed off from me, shaking his head quickly.

"An old pug taught me that," I said.

"Beat it. Beat it fast, wise guy."

I smiled at him, to add to his troubles, and walked away.

In my room I looked out the windows. I spent a good little while at it. I could see a patch of sky, darkening now, and the blacker mass of a cloud that looked no larger than a man's hand. After a while the sky was almost the color of the cloud; I could make out the cloud only by looking away and then glancing quickly toward the place I'd last seen it. That way I could pick it out for a second or two before it faded into the sky.

It was a relaxing game, light on mind and body.

I realized that the passive end of my problem was solved. Now I knew what to look for; the men who ran the city's dope racket. They had killed Janey. They had also killed the big man named Marshall, but that was someone else's headache. And they had killed Janey's brother, as surely as if they'd slapped him and stuck his head in the oven. They'd built up a craving in him that he couldn't fight against; unless it was satisfied he was on his way to a nut house. That had prompted his suicide. Janey had been his bankroll, his touch. With her gone the money was gone, and so was the dope. And so, like lots of people, old, middle-aged and young, he'd taken the easy way out. It was easier than fighting the dope habit. . . .

I had an early dinner, and caught a cab out to Janey's apartment. My grip was still there from the night I'd arrived, and I needed fresh linen, and an extra suit. But most of all I needed the thirty-eight with black handprints that was waiting for me, oiled and clean, in the elastic compartment with my shaving equipment.

I still had the key Janey had given me in Philadelphia, the key she'd bet me five bucks I'd never use. There was no trouble getting in; the police detail had been pulled off the day before.

I closed the door of her apartment behind me and stood for a few seconds in the dark, noticing the faint traces of her perfume that lingered in the room, and feeling an intense disappointment that I couldn't call her name, and expect her to answer in that clear rising voice that always seemed close to laughter.

There was a rectangular shaft of light coming in the window; it fell across her desk and touched the soft gray carpeting. I hadn't thought of checking through her things until this minute, but it seemed like a good idea. I walked toward her desk, but halfway there a sound brushed my ears, the merest whisper of a footfall, and I stopped and looked carefully into the shadows beyond the shaft of moonlight.

I saw nothing and heard nothing.

The room was still, except for the slightly faster stroke of my own heart. I started to turn, and then I heard it again, the soft footfall on the carpet, and I knew it was too late to turn; the footstep was behind me, and as I wheeled and swung my arm around in a back-hand sweep, I heard another sound, a sound like a swift whispering above my head, and then the object that made that noise struck down against my left temple and I went sluggishly to my knees, fighting a weakening tide of darkness and pain.

There was a bristling surface against my cheek, and I knew I had gone down all the way, full length on my stomach. I opened one eye and saw a tweed trouser leg and a brown oxford, moving through the light, away from me toward the door. I kicked out desperately and felt the tip of my shoe connect with yielding flesh. There was a soft, gasping moan; I came to my knees and tried to get up. Then the roof fell on me, and I knew the pain and darkness would take an uncontested decision this time. . . .

When I came around I was lying on my face, and there was a sharp driving pain that started above my left eye and extended down to the base of my neck. I could see nothing for a while, and then, without moving my head, I became aware of a thin edge of light running from the floor to the ceiling. It mystified me for a full minute.

Then I realized that the front door wasn't closed, and that the crack of light came from the corridor.

This was an accurate but useless deduction, I realized.

I was trying to get my hands under me to lift myself to my knees, when I saw that something had blocked out more than half of that streak of light. For an instant I couldn't figure it out; but as the crack began to widen I realized what was happening. Someone else was entering the apartment. I saw the light from the corridor widen at the top of the door, a blackness cross it and then the door closed slowly; the light disappeared, and the click of a lock sounded in the stillness.

I was lying just outside the rectangular shaft of light that touched the carpet—probably invisible to anyone just entering the dark room from the lighted corridor. I held my breath as soft footsteps crossed the carpet toward the desk.

The feet moved into the pool of light near my head, and stopped there irresolutely. I was looking at a pair of black ankle-strap sandals, and slim tanned legs that gleamed like silver in the soft moonlight. I was close enough to see the initials on a golden ankle bracelet, and the fine blonde hair on the legs.

One foot began to move, and I moved at the same time, lifting myself slightly and snaking an arm around both slender ankles.

She gazed at me in fright, and then dropped on me, driving her knees into my back, hissing now like an angry cat. I grabbed for her wrists with one hand; my other arm was still wrapped around her legs, and for a few seconds I was at an awkward disadvantage. I missed one of her wrists with my free hand, and the next instant her nails were clawing savagely at my eyes.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

Editor's Note—Every Saturday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON, April 25—"Is it true," inquires S. B. of Brooklyn, N. Y., "that the Eisenhower administration has established a blackout on news at Washington? I thought the Republicans had promised to do away with secrecy in the conduct of national and international affairs. After all, their business is our business."

Although this subject might be considered as shop talk, and a matter of principal concern to news-gatherers and their editors, I am willing to take a whirl at it. I may premise my comment with the statement that it will probably be unpopular among my newspaper colleagues at Washington.

There has been a certain clampdown on news, but for what seems to me as understandable reasons. The new administration faces many difficult problems, national and international, which cannot be solved overnight. Naturally, premature revelations prejudice a solution.

IMPATIENT — The businessmen in top positions are not accustomed to announcing unfinished or half-baked plans. They remind me of a talk I once had on this question with Herbert Hoover, whose background as an engineer resembles that of the Humphrey-Wilson group. Hoover could not understand why we insisted on day-by-day accounts of planning and policy-making.

"As an engineer," he said, "I wouldn't think of calling in the press when I had a bridge only half finished or a mine half dug. Why can't you wait till the end of the job?"

Similarly, Wilson, Humphrey and their business associates think there is no news when an automobile or some other product is only half finished. They want us to wait till the job is done. They are impatient of premature news. They ask us to be more patient.

DIGGING — There is no news

secrecy problem, however, which hard, old-fashioned digging for facts cannot remedy. It is not necessary to wait around for an official announcement to ascertain the general direction and purpose of Eisenhower's policies. This is particularly true because so many changes can be effected by administrative decision as well as by legislation.

By studying and analyzing the men like names to key positions in the executive branch, and by keeping a close watch on their statements and orders, it is possible to keep the public informed on what they may expect from Washington.

Finally, so long as Congress continues in its present investigative mood, there will be few secrets at the Capital.

DISCREDIT — "Do I detect," asks M. F. of Leesburg, Va., "a general movement to discredit General Marshall? I have been reading quite a bit of criticism of him lately."

Answer: There has been no attempt to depreciate his achievements as chief of staff during World War II. But, as I recently noted, Truman's awe and admir-

Experts Say Ohio Fishermen Should Do OK Next Few Days

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio anglers should enjoy their best catches of the season this week unless heavy rains cloud the most productive streams.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife, in its weekly report on stream and lake conditions, predicted heavy catches for the next two days. It reported most streams clearing rapidly and most lakes clear to cloudy.

Here's the run-down on general fishing and stream conditions by districts:

Southwestern—Rivers clear and normal, fishing good. Lakes generally clear. Some trout taken from Mad River. Indian Lake clear and low with some catfish taken.

Northwestern—Fishing pressure light but good catches in Ottawa County. Some walleyes taken near Buttondown. Water generally clear reservoirs in good condition.

Southeastern and east central—Hocking River roily and creeks mostly rough. Most streams clearing and fishing poor to fair. Muskingum River muddy but clearing and Lake Hope and Lake Alma clear with fishing fair.

Northwestern — Lakes normal,

Weather Tops Redlegs Again

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs have lost one decision to Milwaukee, one to Chicago, one to St. Louis, and six to the weatherman.

And since they have two victories, it doesn't take much of a mathematician to figure out that their record, weatherwise, is 5-6.

The latest postponement came Friday, when a heavy mid-day rain, followed by a 20-degree drop in the temperature, forced Milwaukee officials to postpone the first of a scheduled four-game series with Cincinnati.

9 Men Break Par In Vegas Golf Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Nine golfers broke par and Tommy Bolt broke a putter to set up the third day of play in the $35,000 Tournament of Champions.

The par-breakers did it with generally steady golf. Bolt was about as unsteady as they come.

On the back nine, after a good start the sometimes terrible-tempered Mr. B. wound up the day using a No. 2 iron for a putter, and a driver that he bent back into shape himself. He also wound up tied for 18th in a field of 20.

On top at the half-way mark in a bitter chase for a $10,000 first prize was Lew Worsham, the 1947 National Open champion from Oakmont, Pa.

Worsham shared the lead the first day, but took over alone with a five-under-par 139. He was three under par 72 going into the 17th hole, with a chance of duplicating his first day's 68. Then he missed a three-foot putt on 17, went into a lake on 18 to take a stroke penalty, and finished with a one-under-par 71.

It was good enough to put him one stroke up on Cary Middlecoff, Al Bessell, Chandler Harper and Earl Stewart Jr., who slipped from his first day's tie with Worsham for the lead. At 141 were Johnny Palmer, Jimmy Demare and Ted Kroll. Lloyd Mangrum was all alone at 142.

Wynn Slated To Duel Hal Newhouser

CLEVELAND (AP)—Early Wynn, the Cleveland Indians' chunky right-hander, hasn't lost to the Detroit Tigers since 1950 and today, in the first ladies' day game of 1953, he will try to make it 10 in a row over the last-placers.

Against him will be southpaw Hal Newhouser who hurled the game Wynn lost 5-3 to Detroit on Sept. 6, 1950. It will be the first start for Newhouser who has been idle with a pulled leg muscle.

Mike Garcia, aided by a two-run homer by Al Rosen, beat the Tigers 4-1 Friday night in the opener of the four-game series. It was the first 1953 victory for Mike, and only a 410-foot homer by Walt Droppo sealed the shutout.

No other Tiger got beyond second base as Garcia doled out a double to Jim Delsing and seven singles and gave only one walk.

Rosen's initial 1953 homer came after Art Houtteman, starter and loser, had walked Doby. Before that second inning ended the Tribe added another to go in front 3-0. Bill Glynn got the first of three singles which—with a walk—gave him a perfect night at the plate. Harry Simpson made first on shortstop Harvey Kuenn's error, and Garcia's base hit brought Glynn home.

After Mitchell and Larry Doby had walked in the third, Glynn singled again to bring in Cleveland's final run.

If First Tilts Tell, Yankees Are Shoo-Ins

Bronx Bombers Said Coasting Along As 1953 Season Opens

By The Associated Press

Just how good are the 1953 New York Yankees? Nobody knows yet, but off the first 10 games they appear to be finding the task of winning their fifth straight pennant the easiest of the lot.

Riding a four game winning streak, the Yanks lead the American League by two games. They've won eight and lost just two to the same clubs that beat them in five of the first nine a year ago.

The Yankees of 1952 floundered through the first month and it wasn't until late May that they climbed above the .500 mark to stay. But this season only Alex Kellner, the Philadelphia lefthander, has found their number.

Kellner, who became the first three game winner in the majors this season by whipping Boston yesterday, shut out New York on opening day and came back five days later to repeat the white-washing—something that hadn't happened to a Yankee team since 1934.

Against everybody else the Yanks have made balance pay off—just enough hitting to go with reasonably good pitching to come out on the long end

Health Council Surveys Needs, Services For Work In District

Pickaway Community Health Council took an overall glance Friday night at the various health services here.

A panel discussion for that purpose made up the program for the group's quarterly meeting in Circleville Elks Lodge. It was the main preliminary step as the council moved closer to a study of unification of the city and county health departments.

The council at its January meeting voted to survey "all that would be entailed" in any such unification. Friday night's session outlined present facilities, and the next meeting in July will consider the advantages and disadvantages if a merger were agreed upon.

Approximately 30 persons, representing groups interested in health programs, were present for the panel discussion. The panel was composed of the following:

DR. A. D. BLACKBURN, Pickaway County health commissioner; C. O. Leist, Circleville city health director; Mayor Raymond Lindsey of Ashville, speaking for the county's villages; Mrs. Litta Roberson of the State Farm Bureau, and Miss Helen Massengale of the State Health Department.

Mrs. Roberson warned that health facilities are overlooked too often in listing priorities for any county's needs. She explained briefly the relationship between the different health units within the county.

Dr. Blackburn, long active as a public health leader in Pickaway County, underlined how closely the development of health programs has become involved with legal ramifications and state legislative action.

He detailed some of the more important functions of his department, stressing immunizations and other phases directly aimed to protect the health of the county's school children.

In a side comment during the course of his talk, the commissioner drew attention to a large assortment of free health literature on display for the public at his offices in Pickaway County courthouse.

"Yet, you'd be surprised," he said, "how few come and make use of this free literature we have all prepared for them."

Leist said much of the city's progress along the line of better health will have to cope with "terrible housing conditions" in some sections of the community.

"I was surprised to find the sub-normal living conditions that exist in some parts of Circleville," he told the gathering.

THE CITY HEALTH head said efforts are still under way to achieve a sanitary fly system to replace the city dump. He also reminded the council that any large scale expansion of Circleville in the years immediately ahead will bring about many new problems in the health field and aggravate some of those already existing.

Lindsey touched briefly on health work in his community and pointed out that most of it overlaps, in proportion, the type of services already mentioned by Dr. Blackburn and Leist.

Miss Massengale, assuring the council of the great field open for its activities, emphasized that a county invariably knows its own health problems best. She also drew attention to the possibility of a great increase in health needs in this area if Circleville's expansion hopes materialize.

In a general discussion following the panel talks, Dr. Blackburn said the public should be reminded that the welfare department—and not the health department—takes care of cases requiring medical treatment for needy individuals. Dr. Blackburn's department is almost entirely limited to preventive steps for protection of the public health.

He said one of the most serious problems existing at this time arises from careless installation and planning of septic tanks. Leist said special efforts are made to have this matter given particular attention in the city area.

haps Czechoslovakia and Albania to a new election, under the supervision either of the signatories to the Yalta Agreement or the United Nations.

The effect of that could be that Russia could lose one or more of these satellites. It might change the political map of Europe.

It is impossible to believe that Russia will agree to such terms short of an all-out war. Yet, it would be unbelievable that General Eisenhower would ask for less in any statement of his maximum terms.

As regards his demand for "a practical system of inspection under the United Nations," this is a reiteration of the Baruch proposal concerning the atom bomb and is absolutely sound. Any retreat from such inspection would vitiate the entire program.

No nation can be trusted, in the present circumstances of an armed world, to police itself, particularly with regard to a disarmament program.

After World War I, Germany was disarmed; yet Hitler built an effective army, stockpiled for a six-year war. After the Washington Conference (1922), Japan was supposed to reduce her fleet to a ratio of 5-5-3.

Actually Japan built a secret fleet which proved to be effective for a time in World War II.

Inspection is an essential instrument of world peace and the President was wise in restating it in his terms.

Jimmie Ziegler Now In Far East

Serving aboard the destroyer USS Samuel N. Moore in the Far East is Jimmie B. Ziegler, seaman, husband of Mrs. Joan R. Ziegler of 118½ N. Scioto St.

County Officials Plan Hearing On Tanged Bypass Measure

All interested parties in the legalistic tug-of-war over the Route 23 bypass are assured of at least one more public hearing here before the issue can be moved into conclusive stages.

Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer said he will advise that such a hearing be held at the proper time even though it may not be required by statute.

"In view of the high interest and importance of the matter to Circleville," he said, "it seems only reasonable that this should be done."

County officials assumed central roles in the long controversy when City Council, at its last meeting, approved a "bypass ordinance" of challenged legality. The action, in effect, leaves a legal knot for the county to untangle—turning a normally routine county sanction into a move which could either put the bypass plan in the clear or toss it back into Council's lap again.

Present controversy centers on a petition of property owners which forms the heart of the "bypass ordinance"—actually a measure to approve withdrawal of a section of the city limits.

DIFFICULT DECISION facing the commissioners, after the city action becomes effective in 19 days, will be to say whether the property owner petition represents a majority of the freeholders affected by the proposed bypass route. Councilman George Crites, spokesman for the anti-bypass forces, protested the petition failed to do this and that the ordinance was invalid.

However, Council passed it anyway after hearing City Solicitor George Gerhardt advise that it seemed to be a question to be settled by county officials.

At least three complicating actions by the rival groups are currently adding to the county's task, already looming as a difficult one if some of the property deeds prove hard to trace. Forces fighting the state's offer to build and maintain the bypass around the western side of the city are using two-way strategy to embarrass those in favor of the highway change.

Foes of the bypass have apparently succeeded in having some names withdrawn from the first petition and are trying to cancel some others. Meanwhile, it is widely known steps are also contemplated to increase the number of property owners—and voters on the issue—merely by "splitting up" certain holdings along the bypass zone.

Moving to counteract this two-way strategy, boosters for the proposal to take Route 23 from Court St. are seeking new property owner signatures to fill in gaps on their petition.

One of several other claims seeking to derail the bypass effort is that the petition was not filed legally in the first place and that Council's recent action could mean nothing anyway.

and Ross Counties, to be held July 20-24 in Tar Hollow.

After this camp, the boys will go to Columbus and prepare to leave for Kansas, where they will stay approximately 11 weeks before returning to India.

These young men are between the ages of 20 and 30 and most of them have been graduated from or are attending institutions of higher education. People of the county will be interested to know that they all speak English and all of them have lived in farming villages in India.

Residents of the county are urged to talk with the IFYE students and show an interest in these young men, as it is very important that they take back to India good impressions of the United States.

Man Turns Pup Into Flaming Torch

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—A 19-year-old foundry worker was charged with cruelty to animals here today after he allegedly poured kerosene over a stray dog befriended by foundry workers and made a flaming torch of the pup.

The mongrel got his noon meal daily from lunch pail scraps and was accepted as a plant pet at the United Engr & Foundry Co.

Paul G. Leasure is charged with taking animal to a remote corner of a scrap yard, pouring a pop bottle full of kerosene on the dog and igniting the fuel. After the flames died out Leasure began burying the dog, even though merciful death had still not come. A plant policeman's bullet finished the pup.

SOVIET READY FOR PEACE TALK

16, Congressmen, 2,650 GIs On Hand For Latest A-Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—One of the spring series most brilliant and powerful atomic bombs exploded today as 16 congressmen and 2,650 troops from all over the nation looked on.

Shortly after the blast, touched off from a 300-foot tower at 6:30 a. m. EST, troops climbed from their trenches 4,000 yards from ground zero and advanced in a tactical maneuver.

The shot, at the Atomic Energy Commission's Yucca Flat test site 75 miles northwest, was a thing of beauty as seen from here. As it flared a skylull of fleecy clouds, invisible in the darkness an instant before, were momentarily printed with gold.

Observers at the control tower, where the congressmen were stationed, 10 miles from ground zero, said the shock wave at their vantage point was the strongest of the series. It broke light bulbs and window panes in outbuildings.

The flash was seen as far away as San Francisco, 600 miles distant.

A Navy AD-2 Skyraider drone plane, flown into the churning atomic cloud, crashed. Such craft carry instruments to obtain scientific data, which is relayed to the ground by radio.

Fifty-two aircraft, including six

B-47 Stratojets and six B-50s, were in the air on missions.

The Army maneuver was conducted by two combat teams of 1,200 men each. With them in the trenches were 250 military observers. And in trenches an undisclosed distance closer to ground zero were eight volunteer observers.

The Army said there were no casualties.

The shock wave rattled windows here but was not as strong as that of a previous air-drop shot, which broke a store window.

Besides the spectacular flash, which rivaled last week's beauty, observers were treated to an unusual cloud formation.

As the cloud shot upward a succession of dazzling white icecaps formed on its top. Two of these spread outward around the soaring mushroom stem, forming a double collar effect.

The troop maneuver in this, the seventh explosion of the series, was one of the largest ever held at the proving ground.

As blast preparations were made Friday, a Defense Department spokesman said two atomic cannons are to start here in about 10 days from Fort Sill, Okla. Observers look for the cannon tests to be made about May 21, when the last explosion in the series is contemplated.

Relatives Of Yankee POWs Gain New Hope In Exchange

By The Associated Press
Hundreds of American families whose loved ones still are prisoners of the enemy in Korea found new hope today.

In the first six days of the repatriation of disabled prisoners, the Communists had exceeded their originally pledged total of 120 Americans by 16. Seventeen were included in Friday's exchange. And the Reds promised 13 more Americans would be among those returned today.

A proposal to continue the exchange indefinitely was being considered by negotiators at Panmunjom. Some observers there said they thought the recent attitude of the Reds might indicate they would accept such a plan.

As word of the additional releases brought fresh hope to the silent homes where the prayed-for, familiar name has not been heard as among those first freed, the fortunate families combined their prayers of thanksgiving with expressions of hope for others.

"We wish every other mother and father of a boy missing over there could have the same joy as ours," said Mr. and Mrs. Arley D. Rose. Their son, Marine Sgt. Donald A. Rose, 21, had been missing since Oct. 6.

"I hope and pray they can all come home," said Mrs. David Hilycord of Columbus, Ind. Her son, Bill, was shot down on his first bombing mission in 1951.

For some the impact of the good news was almost too much.

Mrs. Bernice Daniel, 22, collapsed when her brother brought her word that her husband, Sgt. James F. Daniel of Covington, Ga., had been freed.

"She had taken his prisonment bravely, but when I told her he had been exchanged, she was so happy she fainted away," the brother, Arthur B. Miller, said. Mrs. Daniel has been living in Alameda, Calif., for a year.

In Redlands, Calif., Mrs. Vera Rose, mother of Sgt. Donald A. Rose, 21, a Marine, gasped "thank God" and burst into tears when she heard the news of her son's release.

Mrs. Margaret Christie, Montezuma, Ind., also wept with joy when she learned her husband, M. Sgt. Gilbert Christie, was among those returned.

"It's wonderful news, but I won't really believe it until I see him," she said. Christie was captured Nov. 2, 1950, by the Chinese Reds shortly after they entered the war.

Free Chest X-Ray Program Set For Monday In CHS

An emergency free x-ray program will be held Monday in Circleville High School.

The special x-ray survey has been scheduled due to the fact an active case of tuberculosis was found in the school during a similar survey last October.

All schools of Pickaway County have been invited to send pupils to the Circleville school to participate in the program.

The free chest x-ray program is made possible from funds collected by sale of Christmas seals.

Bank Holdup Try Stumping St. Louis Cops

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The death of one bandit and the escape of another today handicapped investigation of what almost became St. Louis' largest bank robbery.

Frank Vito, 25, killed himself rather than surrender. Two other bandits and police Cpl. Robert Heitz were wounded in the wild gun battle here Friday.

In a satchel on the bank floor was $143,000 which had been scooped up hurriedly by the bandits, all from Chicago.

The fourth member of the team, known to police only as "George," was away in a car as the first police arrived in answer to the bank's alarm.

Officers found the car today abandoned on a street about six blocks from the bank. It was identified through Illinois plates.

However, no trace of the missing bandit was found.

About 50 employees and customers hugged the floors as bullets whizzed overhead. Outside, motorists fled their cars for cover.

Still unexplained were the chalked words "will be rob—" on the outside of the bank's rear wall.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Raymond Bruntrager backed Walter Scholl, 28, wounded in the bank, as saying the robbery was planned in Chicago about two weeks ago.

The other wounded man, believed by police to be John W. Frederick, 50, is in critical condition in a hospital.

4 Persons Killed In Bucyrus Crash

BUCYRUS (AP)—Four persons were killed and four others seriously injured today in a two-car collision on U. S. 30 three miles east of Bucyrus. The dead:

Marine Sgt. William J. Houck, 23, Holgate, O.; Cpl. Lea McTurman, 24, Parker, Ind.; Kenneth E. Baum, 34, Lima, O., and a small girl, believed to be the daughter of Baum.

Only one of the injured was positively identified. He is Salvatore Degastino, 60, of Lima. Officers said the others were tentatively identified as twin boys, believed to be Baum's sons, and a woman believed to be his wife.

POW Exchange Expected To Be Continued

84 More Allied Men Due To Be Freed By Communists Sunday

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Another 100 Allied prisoners, including a bonus number of Americans, British and Turks, were freed today as the Communists kept their promise to continue the exchange of sick and wounded captives beyond the original figure.

The Reds said they would free 13 more Americans and 71 disabled South Koreans Sunday as truce negotiators return to this neutral zone for the first full dress armistice talks since last Oct. 8.

Seventeen Americans, four British, four Turks and 75 South Koreans came back today, bringing the total to the 600 the Reds said they would exchange in six days. But of the total:

136 were Americans, 16 more than promised.

32 were British, 12 more than promised.

15 were Turks, equal to the number of non-Koreans the Reds said they would exchange aside from British and Americans.

17 OTHERS included men from Colombia, Australia, Canada, South Africa, Greece, the Philippines and the Netherlands.

Both sides have said they would continue the exchange beyond the 600 originally pledged by the Reds and the 5,800 promised by the UN Command.

Neither side has said how many more it will trade, but some observers have speculated the exchange could go on indefinitely.

The UN Command proposed Friday that sick and wounded be exchanged continuously while hostilities continue. The Reds have not replied.

A South Korean lieutenant freed Saturday said the Communists held "more than a thousand seriously sick and wounded South Korean prisoners" near Manpo in North Korea.

There were no litter cases among the Americans, British and Turks exchanged Saturday. Some limped slightly, but otherwise all appeared healthy.

Ohio Youths Campaign For 18-Year Vote

COLUMBUS (AP)—Votes for 18-year-olds and compulsory high school courses on sex and marriage seem almost sure of approval by the Ohio YMCA model legislature today or Sunday.

All candidates for governor, including the winner, Walter D. Gundel of Massillon, endorsed those top measures.

The marriage bill pending before the young lawmaker proposes it be on a "non-scientific" level. Proponents included a clause giving the state the right to withhold funds from any school which failed to provide a course in sex and marriage. It also would provide no student could be graduated unless he had received a passing mark in the course.

Gundel campaigned on a platform of votes for 18-year-olds, increased old age benefits, a strong conservation program and tighter traffic laws.

Other officers elected were Ed Stanford of East Liverpool, lieutenant governor; Jim Simakis of Cleveland, speaker of the House; Lois Bricker of East Palestine, clerk of the Senate; Ronnie Klein of Columbus, clerk of the House; Charles Collins II of Cincinnati, chaplain of the Senate; and John Buchanan of Stouffville, chaplain of the House.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche spoke and Attorney General C. William O'Neill presided at a banquet at Ohio State University Friday.

6 Fliers Die In 2-Airplane Aerial Mishap

WESTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP)—A secret experimental flight by a B29 Superfort and an F84 Thunderjet ended in flaming disaster Friday, with the two craft carrying six crewmen to death.

The planes, flying together when they suddenly burst into flames high above Long Island, apparently collided. However, investigators said no one actually saw them come into contact.

Air Force spokesmen said the flight was of a "classified nature." The service denied an earlier report that the bomber was refusing the fighter in flight at the time of the crash.

The pilot of the jet and the five men aboard the Superfort were from the Wright Air Development Center at Dayton, O.

Both planes had taken off from a field at the Republic Aircraft Corp. in Farmingdale, N. Y., and winged eastward about 50 miles until they were over Great Peconic Bay, an arm of Long Island Sound cutting into the island about 100 miles from New York City.

The B29 hit the waters of the bay near the southern shore and sank, leaving only an oil slick. The jet fell into some woods on the south shore and burned.

None of the bodies of the bomber crew have been recovered. The jet pilot was thrown clear.

Reminded that House members have shown little disposition to continue present high taxes—and in fact are talking about hurrying up the individual income levy cut by six months—Taft said he thinks there may be a change in attitude if it develops that the budget can't be balanced without more revenue. He observed:

"We certainly don't want to delay tax cuts unless we have to, but we may have to."

Farmers Warned Bugs At Work

COLUMBUS (AP)—An Ohio State University extension specialist today warned Central Ohio farmers to unlimber their insect sprays and dusters.

T. H. Parks said the spittlebug, enemy of alfalfa and clover plants, is on the attack.

CRUISING SMOOTHLY and luxuriously aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg on the Potomac, 50 Korean war veterans are served coffee and doughnuts by a Red Cross worker. An estimated 1,000 vets will take the six-hour cruise from Washington to Quantico, Va., before the yacht is decommissioned July 1. Said Capt. J. T. Burke Jr., skipper of the Williamsburg, "I wish we could take a few hundred thousand ... It's the most distinguished group of passengers we ever had."

Businessmen Urge U.S. Shift Aid From Europe To Orient

WASHINGTON (AP)—A team of 55 American businessmen has recommended the Eisenhower administration sharply reduce economic assistance to Western Europe but increase it to Communist-threatened Far East countries.

Responsible government officials also said the business leaders have urged the State Department to give complete control over all foreign aid programs and that the existing Mutual Security Agency be abolished.

These views have been given to MSA Director Harold Stassen as part of a 4,000-word report following survey of foreign aid operations in 14 countries.

Clarence Francis, chairman of the board of General Foods Corp., was the task force director of the business group which undertook the survey at Stassen's request.

The report concludes that American grant aid has accomplished its purpose of "bettering economic conditions in Europe. A substantial cutback is recommended for nearly all countries, except West Berlin and divided Austria.

THE UNITED STATES Congress appropriated $1,282,000,000 for defense support assistance to Western European nations for the 12 month period ending this June 30. This money is used to buy machinery, raw material, food, fuel and other supplies believed needed to help dollar-short governments increase military budgets needed for defense against communism.

The stepped-up economic aid to the Far East presumably would go to Formosa, the Philippines and the three Indochina states now battling against Communist-led rebel armies. These areas were the only Far East countries visited by the business executives.

The business survey strongly recommends that separate foreign aid missions abroad be eliminated and that each U. S. ambassador be given complete authority in making known American policy in all fields.

It is understood the business leaders urged steps be taken to encourage the flow of private American capital overseas to replace government grants, but no specific suggestions were made.

American foreign aid personnel are described in the report as highly competent and industrious for the most part. Nevertheless, it was recommended there be a reduction in the payroll.

MOST SERIOUSLY injured was Robert Ward Jr., 18, of Columbus, who was treated in Berger hospital for fractures of two ribs, multiple lacerations of his ear and face lacerations.

Front ends of both autos were demolished in the smashup. Courts was held Saturday in Pickaway County jail.

Deputy Kills Man In Bedroom Duel

WARREN (AP)—Answering a complaint of a family quarrel, a wounded deputy sheriff shot and killed an unemployed shoe clerk Friday in a bedroom gun duel.

Deputies Albert E. Fisher and Dominic J. Patrick found the former clerk, Joseph Rummell, 33, in bed. They said he had been drinking. Fisher, 36, said Rummell yanked a revolver from under his pillow and shot him in the leg. The deputy said he tried to subdue the man by slamming him over the head with his gun butt, then shot him when Rummell tried to fire again.

ALTHOUGH IT was unsigned and entitled solely "On the Address of President Eisenhower," it seemed clear from the wording that it was correct to call the article a statement by the leadership of the Soviet Union.

It was clearly and definitely an answer to Eisenhower's April 16 speech.

In that address, the president challenged the new Soviet government to prove its peace overtures by agreeing to global disarmament and taking concrete steps to end the tensions that threaten World War III.

Eisenhower said the first step toward peace must be the establishment of an honorable armistice in Korea, followed by political discussions leading to free elections in a United Korea.

He also called for an end to Red aggression in Indochina and Malaya. (Continued on Page Two)

Embezzlement Admitted By Four In Court

CLEVELAND (AP)—Four persons pleaded guilty in federal court here Friday to embezzlement charges.

They are Burner McKinley Banks, 55, assistant cashier of the Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank; Robert Skaggs, 28, a teller for the Citizens Bank & Savings Co. of Bucyrus; Mrs. Mary L. Calogero, assistant treasurer of the Hauserman Employees Federal Credit Union here; and John Krejsa, 48, treasurer of Our Lady of Good Counsel Paris Federal Credit Union here.

Frank E. Steel, an assistant U. S. attorney, said all but Mrs. Calogero have made full restitution, payments and intends to repay all of the money.

Banks, with the Mansfield bank since 1918, was charged in connection with thefts from the bank amounting to $3,600 over a two-year period. He is married and the father of two children.

Skaggs was accused of being responsible for shortages of about $1,200 in the Bucyrus bank. Mrs. Calogero was blamed for a $1,000 shortage in the funds of the Hauserman credit union. Krejsa was charged with responsibility for shortages totaling $2,500 over a two-year period in the church credit union.

Probation officers will check the defendants' backgrounds before Judge Charles J. McNamee decides punishments.

Red Agitators Beaten In Camp

SEOUL (AP)—The UN Prisoner of War Command said today Chinese prisoners on Cheju Island have turned on Red agitators inside their stockades in recent days. Fifteen agitators were beaten so severely that three died later, the command said.

Pro-Communist and anti-Communist groups of prisoners have clashed frequently, but mostly Red strong-arm squads have had the upper hand.

Kremlin Gives Reply To Ike's Challenges

In Washington today, White House press secretary James A. Hagerly said there would be no comment until the full Pravda statement had been received by the U. S. government.

The Soviet statement sharply attacked some things Eisenhower said and many things that U. S. Secretary of State Dulles has said since the President made his appeal in speaking before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

REFERRING directly to Eisenhower's remarks, the Soviet statement accused him of trying to threaten the USSR with atomic war.

Eisenhower said the alternatives to true peace endeavors were: At worst "atomic war," at best, "a life of perpetual fear and tension."

The statement fully agreed with Eisenhower's plea for a lessening of tension and building peace but it accused him of not being very consistent in his remarks.

"In his address," it declared, "the president of the United States for some reason considered it possible to connect his proposals of peace with a whole series of preliminary conditions presented by him to the Soviet Union, although these claims are not reinforced by corresponding obligations from the side of the United States."

Making it clear it did not subscribe to or agree to many of these "conditions," the Soviet statement pointed out that Russia, too, has claims and ideas about what should be done.

The statement also took up Eisenhower on his remark that deeds, not words, are needed today by saying it is impossible not to agree with the president.

In other words, the Soviets say they want some deeds in addition to show it wants peace.

Leslie Pontius Recognized For Botanical Work

The late Leslie Pontius of Circleville, one of Ohio's most outstanding amateur botanists, was given special recognition Friday during the 62nd annual meeting of the Ohio Academy of Science in Ohio State University.

Pontius, a self-styled plant collector, was given recognition for his invaluable work through an address by Prof. William G. Gambill Jr.

Gambill spoke on the contributions of Pontius to systematic botanical data in Ohio. Upon his death about three years ago, the Pontius collection was taken up by Ohio universities, especially to OSU and Ohio University.

Attending Friday's special Academy program were his widow and Mrs. Emmett Barnhart of Circleville.

The Americans included a Navy fighter pilot, an Air Force enlisted man, four Marines and 11 soldiers.

Everything was in readiness for the return of the top-level truce negotiators at 11 a. m. Sunday (9 p. m. Saturday, EST). Originally scheduled for Saturday, the meeting was postponed one day at the Communists' request.

ONLY ONE MAJOR issue stands in the way of an armistice. The UN Command refuses to return some 50,000 Chinese and North Korean prisoners who have said they do not want to go home. The Communists have insisted on the return of all prisoners of war.

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai proposed last month that prisoners who refuse repatriation be turned over to a neutral country pending a decision on their future. He made it clear, however, that the Communists expect all of them ultimately to return home.

The UN Command in agreeing to resume the truce talks suggested Switzerland as the neutral, but re-emphasized that there can be no modification of its stand against forced repatriation. The talks were broken off last fall after failure to settle this point.

Public Power Fund Slashed Sharply

WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee said today the Interior Department should quit competing with private enterprise in the field of power.

To put force into its recommendation, it asked the House to cut the department's budget for the fiscal year 1954 by slightly more than one-third of the amount former President Truman asked.

The recommendation was embodied in a bill carrying $404,863,239 to run the department for the year starting July 1. This is $202,473,161 less than Truman requested in January and $137,874,262 less than the department received this year.

Deep cuts were made in funds requested for transmission lines and power plants.

Alliance Writer Says Russ Women's Role 'Fascinating'

ALLIANCE, O. — The role of women in the big Moscow industrial plants was one of the things that "fascinated" an Ohio woman who made the recent visit to Soviet Russia with a group of American newspaper and radio people.

Mrs. Martha M. Hoiles, daughter-in-law of the publisher of the Alliance Review, Mrs. F. A. Hoiles, is writing a series of articles for the newspaper. A widow of Arthur Hoiles, former managing editor of the Review, Mrs. Hoiles at present is visiting a daughter in Germany.

describing the site of the Stalin Auto Works, which she was told employs an estimated 40,000 workers, Mrs. Hoiles said: "After our welcome we started our tour of this immense plant, through the fumes and smoke of the 'blacksmith shop' where the iron pigs are melted into molten liquid ready to be poured into the molds, and on into the foundry where I stood fascinated by a woman pouring large quantities of this fiery substance as casually as though she were pouring the batter of a cake into a pan. . . .

"The Soviet type of streamlined production seems to be one thing in common in all the factories that we have visited. The cars roll off the assembly line with the clock-like motion that the chocolate bars wrapped in bright paper covers, drop into packing boxes at the Red October Candy Factory."

"On our visit to Pravda, the Soviet Union's biggest newspaper, that same production was evident. The day's copies of the paper which has a daily circulation of 3½ million roll off the press in the court of about three and one-half hours. Not all the copies of the day's issue are printed in Moscow. Mats are flown to the country's 12 principal cities, from Kiev in European USSR, across the whole of European Eurasia in Khabarovsk in Soviet Far Eastern Siberia.

"In each of these factories, I found a high percentage of women workers are Stakhanovites who not only have met the quota set up by the factory, but have exceeded it. As an example, a linotype operator at Pravda has a record of 18 galleys for an eight-hour shift. The Pravda average for a linotype operator is 70,000 letters per eight hour shift, yet this Stakhanovite linotype operator has set a record of 120,000 letters during her eight hour day.

"The women's efficiency is a contributing factor to bringing the morning copy of Pravda out timely to its millions of readers throughout the Soviet Union."

'Passion To Give' Is Sermon Theme For First EUB

Continuing a denominational stewardship emphasis from Easter to Pentecost, First Evangelical United Brethren church Sunday will hear the Rev. Carl L. Wilson speak at the 9:30 a. m. unified worship service on the theme, "A Passion To Give."

The congregation shares in the order of worship through participation in the reaffirmation of a common faith in praise, doctrine and prayer and in singing hymns "I Gave My Life For Thee" and "A Charge To Keep I Have."

The church choir will sing an anthem, "Pardoning Grace," with Miss Lucille Kirkwood playing "Contemplation," "Impromptu Religioso" and "A Song of Gratitude" at the organ.

From scripture in II Corinthians 8:1-5, there are certain stewardship truths to substantiate the theme, "A Passion To Give." Of this topic Rev. Mr. Wilson says:

"St. Paul's experience with the Macedonian Churches as recorded in II Corinthians is a stewardship challenge. These people were professed followers of Christ. They had seen the light of Christianity in contrast to the darkness of paganism. This light had given them a sense of the larger fellowship that reached beyond themselves. Although their means were limited, they were concerned for others and sought opportunity to give, first of all, themselves and then their money that they might have the 'honor of supporting their brothers in Christ and extending the Kingdom of God beyond the confines of their own selves.'

"When these Macedonian Christians began to count the blessings they received in the Faith, they became conscious of the need as it confronted the church and readily recognized the opportunities at their own doorstep. There was only one answer of how to meet these needs and opportunities and that was to dedicate themselves and their money to the Lord. This they did with the result they were possessed with a passion to give."

"Although we are separated by many miles and many years from these churches in Macedonia, we have shared in many of the same blessings of the gospel and we should be begging for the opportunity to give and should be praying for the blessing of the passion to give."

Paul's Conflicts in Corinth

On his second missionary journey Paul went to Philippi, Greece, carrying the gospel to Europe. As there was no synagogue, he sought the river bank where Jews worshipped. A rich woman, Lydia, was converted there.

In Philippi Paul and Silas were beaten and thrown into prison. An earthquake broke open the prison doors. The keeper knelt at the disciples' feet in thanksgiving when he found no one had escaped.

Journeying to Athens, certain philosophers asked to hear about the new gospel. They took Paul to Mars Hill, where he, noting that they had built an altar to "The Unknown God," explained the gospel to them.

In Corinth Paul spoke boldly. Enemies seized him and took him before the Roman ruler, Gallio, who told the Jews that their religious differences were not in his province, and drove them out.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 15:36—18:22

By Alfred J. Buescher

Christ Church Theme To Be On 'Divine Platform'

"The Divine Platform of Unity" will be the theme for study Sunday during worship in the church of Christ, meeting at 159 E. Main St. This service will be preceded by a period of Bible study at 9:45 a. m.

"It was Christ's will that His followers all be one," says Evangelist Charles Cochran. "Therefore, to this end He prayed in John 17:20-21. And in order that His prayer might be answered He sent the Holy Spirit to reveal His plan and the only basis upon which true unity is possible, which is found in the Bible, the inspired word of God. Any substitute for the word of God results only in division rather than unity."

"The apostle Paul says in writing to the church at Ephesus: 'Endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. There is one body, and one Spirit, even as we are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all and in you all' (Eph. 4:3-6)."

"The 'one body,' which is the church (Col. 1:18), is expressive of unity in organization. 'One Spirit' designates unity in source of life, as it is the Spirit that makes alive the body (Jas. 2:26). 'One hope' unites us with the same expectation and desire for eternal life. 'One Lord' gives us unity in Christ as the source of authority in all religious teaching and practice. 'The 'one faith' unites us on the same message or system of doctrine, the gospel of Christ (Rom. 1:16; Jude 3). The 'one baptism' makes unity in practice; and the 'one God the Father' is descriptive of relationship and the right object of all true worship."

'Portrait' Theme Is Readied For Presbyterians

Where is the man who has found a way of life that completely satisfies his soul—a way of living that would fill us with the joy of contentment? Who can tell us what kind of life is most worth living for the largest number of people?

In a sermon, "Portrait Of A Christian," the Rev. Donald Mitchell of Presbyterian church, Sunday will give a possible answer. A study of the Beatitudes of Jesus gives a surprising new understanding of how the seeming barriers to "life at its best" can be cast aside for us today, and the way opened for a new and blessed career ahead for every man.

Scripture supporting this "good news" is recorded in the Gospel of St. Matthew, chapter five, and in Luke, chapter six.

The Choir will sing an anthem, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," directed by Mrs. Clark Will. Mrs. Theodore L. Huston at the organ, will play "The Bells Of St. Anne de Beaupre," "Reverie" and "Jubilate Deo." Congregational singing will include the hymns "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee," "Come Ye Disconsolate" and "Jesus, I My Cross Have Taken."

In the afternoon, all senior members of Westminster Fellowship will leave to attend a Youth Presbytery rally, which will include the afternoon service of the Charles Templeton meetings in Columbus.

MYF Groups Here To Be Host For 'Spring Rally'

Members of both Junior and Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowships of First Methodist church will be hosts Sunday afternoon and evening to youths from all of the 62 charges of the Chillicothe District.

Meeting at 3 p. m., the youth groups will have a short business meeting of the district with reports to be given by officers and leaders.

Feature of the "Spring Rally" will be election of district officers for the new year. Delegates from the MYF groups will elect the new officers.

Dr. George Wilson, district superintendent, will install the new officers Sunday afternoon.

Mothers of the local youth will prepare a low-cost meal to be served in the dining room.

Dr. Charles Sauer, returned missionary from Korea, will be the speaker for the closing service of the meeting at 6:15 p. m. The public is invited to attend the closing session.

Memorial Hall, and a session at Broad St. Presbyterian church with supper and program.

In the evening, the Couples Club invites the public to a program of two Moody Bible Institute films in color, to be shown in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. "The Voice of the Deep" and "Hidden Treasure" are the titles of these films.

'Strength' Theme Planned Sunday In Calvary EUB

"Our Source of Spiritual Strength" is the topic which the Rev. James A. Herbst of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church has chosen for his message Sunday in the morning worship hour.

This is the second in the series of messages upon the spiritual graces of life. For his text, the Rev. Mr. Herbst will use the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth verses of the tenth chapter of Hebrews, which say "and let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another."

The pastor will be assisted in the service by Sunday School Superintendent Dale DeLong, who will lead in the opening devotionals, and Miss Minnie Wilkerson, who will assist at the piano.

The children's department will meet in the Sunday school annex while the adults are in worship and then will engage in their own junior worship service during the adult class hour. The lesson which the adult school will study will be "Paul Faces Opposition."

In the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Herbst will deliver a religious service in Pickaway County jail. At 7 p. m. the finance committee of the church will meet in the Sunday school annex for their annual financial meeting.

'God's Pattern' Is Sermon Theme For Methodists

"God's Pattern of Man" is the sermon theme to be presented Sunday during worship service in First Methodist church by the Rev. Robert Weaver.

The sermon will be based on the text in Ecclesiastes: "Fear God and keep His commandments; for this is the whole duty of man."

The development of the sermon will show how God has given man a pattern for living which would bring happiness to all of mankind. The man who feels that he is sufficient unto himself fools himself, for man in his own strength is not competent to meet the impact of life fully.

Another development will picture God as holding man responsible for following the laws of God. God's love for man demands that he hold man to the very letter of the law.

Mrs. Ervin Leist has chosen "Evening in the Cloisters," "Aubade" and "Song of Joy" as her organ selections for the service. The senior choir, directed by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Dwight Steele, member of the board of trustees, will present the 1953-54 budget to the congregation in a short stewardship message.

Text Of St. Mark Forms Basis For Lutheran Rites

The Rev. George L. Troutman will conduct the morning worship services Sunday in Trinity Lutheran church and afternoon services in Christ church.

By request, the Rev. Mr. Troutman will preach on the text from St. Mark 12:41-44. This portion of scripture tells of Jesus with his disciples at the Temple treasury as they observe the rich and the poor giving their gifts to the Lord.

It is then that the poor widow drops in her mite which Christ commends so highly since she gave her all to the Lord whereas the rich gave only of their abundance.

The Rev. Mr. Troutman will develop the thought of this text under the theme "A Celebrated Contribution." He will point out "Jesus continually observes our worship, one part of which is our giving to Him of our tithes and offerings. And in our contributions he is desirous that we give willingly with a sense of thankfulness for the abundant blessings that God has showered upon us. Our personal contribution to the Lord is the acid test of our true faith in Him as Creator and Redeemer."

Senior choir will sing an anthem "O Ye That Loveth the Lord" and lead the congregation in the singing of "While Yet The Morn Is Breaking," "Faith of Our Fathers, Living Still," "We Give Thee But Thy Own" and "God of Nations, Throned Above."

During the morning service, there will be a congregational meeting for the purpose of electing a delegate and alternate to the Ohio District convention of the American Lutheran church. Also to be discussed will be the Ohio District Luther League convention's request that they hold their annual session next Thanksgiving weekend in Circleville's Trinity Lutheran church.

Immediately following the service, the Lutheran Brotherhood will meet in the old Sunday School room.

'DENATIONALIZATION'

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has shown that he purposes to carry out as expeditiously as circumstances permit his campaign promise to get government out of competition with private industry, consistent with the public interest.

The first move in that direction was taken when Commerce Secretary Weeks in February said he would offer for sale or lease the Inlands Waterways Corporation, which provides barge service on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The corporation, established in 1924, operates 210 barges and 21 tow boats, but it has never made a profit.

Abolishing wage and price controls and getting agreement by congressional leaders for early termination of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were also essentially parts of the administration's "denationalization" program.

These actions are followed by Mr. Eisenhower's special message recommending that Congress adopt legislation for selling the government's 21 synthetic rubber-producing plants.

Mr. Eisenhower said he acted at the suggestion of the RFC, which has had charge of the plants, though private companies have operated them on a fee basis. As to the necessary legislation, the President merely stated it should insure fair competition, with any sale made on terms that will guarantee ready availability of the plants to produce rubber in time of emergency.

FUTURE OF KOREA

IF THE WAR IN KOREA ends and peace of a sort is established, what will be the future of the nation which has suffered so greatly from Communist intrigue and aggression? There is a wide difference of opinion.

For some reason the 38th parallel was designated as the dividing line between North and South Korea. But the suggestion that this become a permanent dividing line evokes strenuous objections in Washington and in Korea.

Senator Taft says such an agreement would be highly unsatisfactory. Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea, says any settlement which leaves the country divided will be considered by his people as appeasement of the Communists. Such a boundary line, he maintains, would not prevent the Communists from harassing South Korea at will.

But a united Korea can be achieved only if Moscow agrees to such a step. An armistice will not bring peace if the Communists remain in control of half of Korea.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Peace feelers may be designed to discover if the adversary is receptive, or they may be designed for propaganda purposes to weaken unity among other nations. Peace feelers are unnecessary if nations have honorable purposes, as they can make their intentions known through the ordinary channels of diplomatic communications.

Actually, Soviet Russia is represented at the capitals of the Great Powers by ambassadors who can speak to the head of each state directly. Also, Russia is fully represented at the United Nations where its emissaries often speak too long and too often. Therefore, the indirect peace feeler is an unnecessary device if the intent is to accomplish peace.

President Eisenhower has taken a more direct route to peace, namely, he has stated the maximum American terms in clear language. It cannot be assumed that Russia will accept the maximum American position; therefore, it is to be expected that on May 1, the day of revolutionary celebration, either Malenkov or Molotov will state Russia's maximum terms. If that happens, a conference will undoubtedly be arranged, perhaps of foreign ministers, that is, Dulles, Eden and Molotov, or it might include the representatives of other countries, to see whether a common basis may be found.

President Eisenhower's maximum terms for peace are just. His speech on the subject was a magnificent state paper of the highest order. Should it become the basis for discussion for peace, the greatest progress in the direction of peace will have been made since 1943. At the Teheran (1943) and Yalta (1945) conferences, the basis was war, not peace.

If the Russians really mean peace, they are not under any compulsion to accept President Eisenhower's terms as stated; they do have a moral obligation to bargain on the basis of his terms or to state their own. Peace is not readily attainable in the complexities of an armed world. But if peace is desired, a contractual basis can be found. In other periods in human history, ways to peace have found. During the 19th century, such statesmen as Talleyrand, Stein, Bismarck and even Castlereagh sought peace and found it for 99 years.

If we can, in this generation, find 99 years of peace, or even 50 years of peace, it will be a godsend. In terms of international relations, peace means an avoidance of general war; it means a period during which such wars as occur are limited.

The Russians will undoubtedly object most to two points in Eisenhower's speech:

1. "The enforcement of all these agreed limitations and prohibitions by adequate safeguards, including a practical system of inspection under the United Nations."
2. "Any nation's right to a form of government and an economic system of its own choosing is inalienable."

"Any nation's attempt to dictate to other nations their form of government is indefensible."

Point two involves definite violations of the Yalta and Potsdam Agreements, which provided for democratic elections under supervision of the Allied powers in those countries which are now known as satellites. That would, in effect, open Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and per-

news behind the news

Editor's Note—Every Saturday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON, April 25—"Is it true," inquires S. B. of Brooklyn, N. Y., "that the Eisenhower administration has established a blackout on news at Washington? I thought the Republicans had promised to do away with secrecy in the conduct of national and international affairs. After all, their business is our business."

Although this subject might be considered as shop talk, and a matter of principal concern to news-gatherers and their editors, I am willing to take a whirl at it. I may premise my comment with the statement that it will probably be unpopular among my newspaper colleagues at Washington.

There has been a certain clampdown on news, but for what seems to me as understandable reasons. The new administration faces many difficult problems, national and international, which cannot be solved overnight. Naturally, premature revelations prejudice a solution.

IMPATIENT — The businessmen in top positions are not accustomed to announcing unfinished or half-baked plans. They remind me of a talk I once had on this question with Herbert Hoover, whose background as an engineer resembles that of the Humphrey-Wilson group. Hoover could not understand why we insisted on day-by-day accounts of planning and policy-making.

"As an engineer," he said, "I wouldn't think of calling in the press when I had a bridge only half finished or a mine half dug. Why can't you wait till the end of the job?"

Similarly, Wilson, Humphrey and their business associates think there is no news when an automobile or some other product is only half finished. They want us to wait till the job is done. They are impatient of premature news. They ask us to be more patient.

DIGGING — There is no news

secrecy problem, however, which hard, old-fashioned digging for facts cannot remedy. It is not necessary to wait around for an official announcement to ascertain the general direction and purpose of Eisenhower's policies. This is particularly true because so many changes can be effected by administrative decision as well as by legislation.

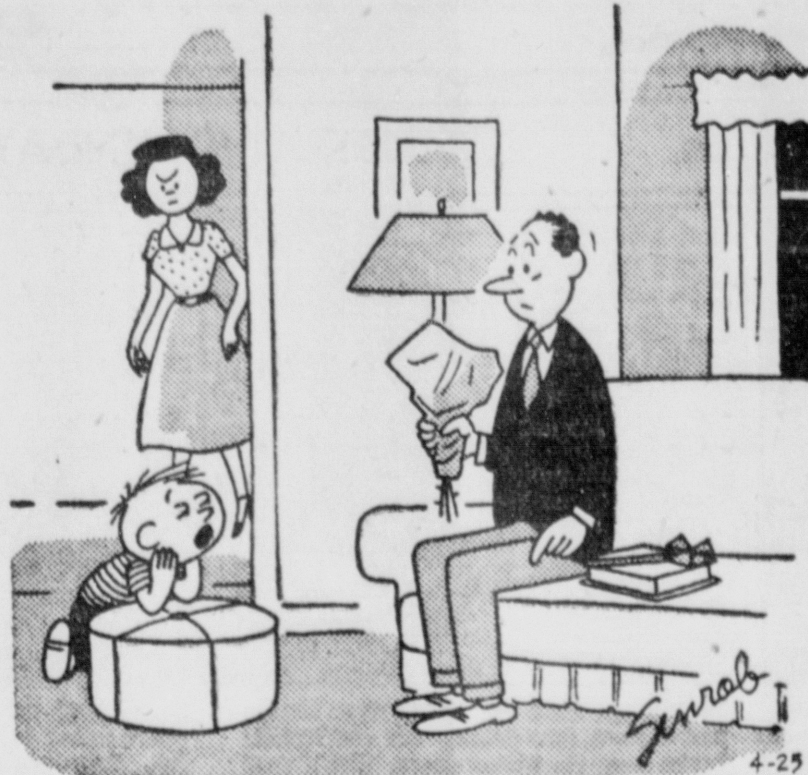

By studying and analyzing the men like names to key positions in the executive branch, and by keeping a close watch on their statements and orders, it is possible to keep the public informed on what they may expect from Washington.

Finally, so long as Congress continues in its present investigative mood, there will be few secrets at the Capital.

DISCREDIT — "Do I detect," asks M. F. of Leesburg, Va., "a general movement to discredit General Marshall? I have been reading quite a bit of criticism of him lately."

Answer: There has been no attempt to depreciate his achievements as chief of staff during World War II. But, as I recently noted, Truman's awe and admira-

A Malignant Disease of Blood That May Destroy Bone Tissue

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WE HAVE all heard of leukemia, a disease in which the white blood cells multiply to so great a degree that they overwhelm the entire blood system.

Another malignant disease of the blood which is not too uncommon but which we hear very little about, is known as multiple myeloma. In this disease, there is a pathological overgrowth of a certain type of blood cell which is known as the plasma cell.

These plasma cells overgrow to such a great degree that they may destroy the bone tissue. So much bone may be destroyed by these cells that a fracture or break may occur without any injury to cause it. The person may fracture his ankle or thigh while walking.

This disease can also affect the kidneys and can cause permanent damage. It changes the urine's composition. In fact, one of the tests used for diagnosis of this disease is made by heating the urine up to a certain temperature. At this temperature it will become very cloudy if multiple myeloma is present, due to a certain type of protein substance being precipitated.

To Confirm Diagnosis

However, to prove the diagnosis, usually a portion of the bone marrow may be removed with a special needle and examined under a microscope. The overgrowth of the plasma cells, if seen in the specimen, makes the diagnosis absolute.

There may be a great deal of bone pain with this disease. Usually, the spine and the legs are affected. The pain also may be in the chest, in the groin and over the kidney area.

The plasma cells, the overgrowth of which causes the disease, multiply to such a degree that they cause anemia, which is characteristic of this disease.

It is interesting that multiple myeloma is a disease of advanced middle age. Eighty per cent of the persons having this disease are over forty, and the average age of the patients having this disease is fifty-five years. In most cases, male patients outnumber the female.

Much research has been done in trying to cure multiple myeloma. Drugs such as radioactive phosphorus, antimony, ACTH and cortisone have been used. All have been found wanting, although some help has been found in certain cases with these drugs.

Recently, a new drug known as ethylcarbamate has been used. In some of the cases given this drug, the bone has reformed its calcium and the persons have been relieved of the severe and unbearable pain of the disease.

It is believed that if earlier diagnosis of this blood disease is made, many more cases will be helped and life in many of these cases can be prolonged for many years.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

H. Y.: Is there any particular diet of help for someone with high blood pressure?

Answer: A diet that is low in salt or sodium is sometimes helpful in treating high blood pressure. Since most foods contain salt, a diet of rice and fruits may be advisable for several weeks. Better consult your doctor.

CHAPTER TWENTY

IT WAS all set up, of course, the cab driver was briefed and ready to finger me.

But he cleared his throat, and stared at me, frowning. Tentatively, he said, "Say Mister, aren't you the guy I—"

Hogan slammed his fist down on his desk. "Speak up," he said. "Well, he could tell me if he was the guy," the driver said, with an injured look at the lieutenant.

"I told you to give me a yes or no," Hogan said, rising and striding up to the driver. "You trying to get cute with me?"

"No, honest I ain't."

"What's all this about?" I said. Hogan said to the caddy, "Get out of here," and walked back to his desk. The driver looked around as if he'd mislaid something, then shuffled out of the room. Hogan stared at me, his eyes bright with anger. "You can go, too, wise guy. But let me tell you something: keep out of my way. If you got any ideas about doing police work in this town, forget 'em. You'll think you backed into a buzz-saw if you don't. Got that?"

"Sure, I've got it."

"You stick in town till you hear from me again."

"All right, I'm not going anywhere."

"On your way, wise guy." Devil took me down to the street. "You missed a story in that paper," he said.

"Yeah? Which one?"

"The one about Jane Nelson's brother. The kid named Bob. He took the gas-pipe. They found him in his home this morning, head in the oven."

"A sex crime, eh?"

"What do you mean?"

"That's what they said about his sister's death."

"You're a cute guy."

I looked at him, and let him see the unfriendliness in my face. "I'm a mad guy," I said.

"You heard Hogan. Don't play around with our business."

"What is your business?"

"Beat it, wise guy." He came up close to me, his eyes and face mean. "I said beat it." He was carrying his right hand at his side, knotted into a fist.

I grinned at him, knowing he'd swing. He brought his right fist up in an upper-cut, but I turned sideways, flattening my arm against my body. His fist exploded on the point of my elbow—and the point of an elbow is nothing to hit with your bare fist.

He groaned and backed off from me, shaking his hand quickly.

"An old pug taught me that," I said.

"Beat it. Beat it fast, wise guy."

I smiled at him, to add to his troubles, and walked away.

In my room I looked out the windows. I spent a good little while at it. I could see a patch of sky, darkening now, and the black mass of a cloud that in a back-hand sweep, I heard another sound, a sound like a swift whispering above my head, and hand. After a while the sky was

Try, Stop Me

Puccini, composer of Boheme and Madame Butterfly, and the great Toscanini were warm friends, but their relationship was punctuated at times by violent quarrels. In the midst of one, Puccini forgot himself and sent the Maestro a Christmas present of holiday bread (called Panettone). Fearful lest Toscanini might think this a form of apology, he hastily wired: "Panettone sent by mistake. Puccini." Back came the reply: "Panettone eaten by mistake. Toscanini."

back to the cart, replaced that melon and—took a ripe one."

Experts Say Ohio Fishermen Should Do OK Next Few Days

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio anglers should enjoy their best catches of the season this week end unless heavy rains cloud the most productive streams.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife, in its weekly report on stream and lake conditions, predicted heavy catches for the next two days. It reported most streams clearing rapidly and most lakes clear to cloudy.

Here's the run-down on general fishing and stream conditions by districts:

Southwestern—Rivers clear and normal, fishing good. Lakes generally clear. Some trout taken from Mad River. Indian Lake clear and low with some catfish taken.

Northwestern—Fishing pressure light but good catches in Ottawa County. Some walleyes taken near Buttonwood. Water generally clear reservoirs in good condition.

Southeastern and east central—Hocking River roily and creeks mostly rough. Most streams clearing and fishing poor to fair. Muskingum River muddy but clearing and Lake Hopewell and Lake Alma clear with fishing fair.

Northwestern — Lakes normal,

9 Men Break Par in Vegas Golf Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Nine golfers broke par and Tommy Bolt broke a putter to set up the third day of play in the $35,000 Tournament of Champions.

The par-breakers did it with generally steady golf. Bolt was about as unsteady as they come.

On the back nine, after a good start the sometimes terrible-tempered Mr. B. wound up the day using a No. 2 iron for a putter, and a driver that he bent back into shape himself. He also wound up tied for 18th in a field of 20.

On top at the half-way mark in a bitter chase for a $10,000 first prize was Lew Worsham, the 1947 National Open champion from Oakmont, Pa.

Worsham shared the lead the first day, but took over alone with a five-under-par 139. He was three under par 72 going into the 17th hole, with a chance of duplicating his first day's 68. Then he missed a three-foot putt on 17, went into a lake on 18 to take a stroke penalty, and finished with a one-under-par 71.

It was good enough to put him one stroke up on Cary Middlecoff, Al Besselink, Chandler Harper and Earl Stewart Jr., who slipped from his first day's tie with Worsham for the lead. At 141 were Johnny Palmer, Jimmy Demaret and Ted Kroll. Lloyd Mangrum was all alone at 142.

Tigers Drop 6-4 Decision To Blue Lions

Circleville Tiger hardballers dropped a 6-4 decision to Washington C. H. Blue Lions Friday in an SCO League test on the Washington diamond.

Tiger batsmen held an edge over the host club from the third inning until the sixth following a four-run scoring spree in the third.

Both teams were blanked in the opening frame of the game, with the Lions picking up a brace of tallies in the second to take the lead.

Circleville loaded the bases in the third, however, all three runners scoring on a double by Mike Rooney. Rooney then tallied the fourth marker for the frame on a Lion error.

WASHINGTON added a single in the fifth to whittle the CHS lead to 4-3, then exploded with a three-run flurry in the sixth to ice the victory at 6-4.

Hurlier Bob Turner kept the Tigers on top until the sixth, when he walked the first three Lions facing him. All three scored. Turner gave up five hits and fanned six.

Washington's Rettig was the power hitter for the day, poling a homer. Rooney and Turner posted the only two Tiger hits of the test, both doubles.

Next test for the Tigers will be Tuesday against invading Greenfield McClain. Box score of Friday's league loss follows:

Weather Tops Redlegs Again

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs now have lost one decision to Milwaukee, one to Chicago, one to St. Louis, and six to the weatherman.

And since they have two victories, it doesn't take much of a mathematician to figure out that their record, weatherwise, is 5-6.

The latest postponement came Friday, when a heavy mid-day rain, followed by a 20-degree drop in the temperature, forced Milwaukee officials to postpone the first of a scheduled four-game series with Cincinnati.

Health Council Survey Needs, Services For Work In District

Pickaway Community Health Council took an overall glance Friday night at the various health services here.

A panel discussion for that purpose made up the program for the group's quarterly meeting in Circleville Elks Lodge. It was the main preliminary step as the council moved closer to a study of unification of the city and county health departments. The council at its January meeting voted to survey "all that would be entailed" in any such unification. Friday night's session outlined present facilities, and the next meeting in July will consider the advantages and disadvantages if a merger were agreed upon.

Approximately 30 persons, representing groups interested in health programs, were present for the panel discussion. The panel was composed of the following:

DR. A. D. BLACKBURN, Pickaway County health commissioner; C. O. Leist, Circleville city health director; Mayor Raymond Lindsey of Ashville, speaking for the county's villages; Mrs. Litta Roberson of the State Farm Bureau, and Miss Helen Massengale of the State Health Department.

Mrs. Roberson warned that health facilities are overlooked too often in listing priorities for any county's needs. She explained briefly the relationship between the different health units within the county.

Dr. Blackburn, long active as a public health leader in Pickaway County, underlined how closely the development of health programs has become involved with legal ramifications and state legislative action.

He detailed some of the more important functions of his department, stressing immunizations and other phases directly aimed to protect the health of the county's school children.

In a side comment during the course of his talk, the commissioner drew attention to a large assortment of free health literature on display for the public at his offices in Pickaway County courthouse.

"Yet, you'd be surprised," he said, "how few come and make use of this free literature we have all prepared for them."

Leist said much of the city's progress along the line of better health will have to cope with "terrible housing conditions" in some sections of the community. "I was surprised to find the sub-normal living conditions that exist in some parts of Circleville," he told the gathering.

THE CITY HEALTH head said efforts are still under way to achieve a sanitary fill system to replace the city dump. He also reminded the council that any large scale expansion of Circleville in the years immediately ahead will bring about many new problems in the health field and aggravate some of those already existing.

Lindsey touched briefly on health work in his community and pointed out that most of it overlaps, in proportion, the type of services already mentioned by Dr. Blackburn and Leist.

Miss Massengale, assuring the council of the great field open for its activities, emphasized that a county invariably knows its own health problems best. She also drew attention to the possibility of a great increase in health needs in this area if Circleville's expansion hopes materialize.

In a general discussion following the panel talks, Dr. Blackburn said the public should be reminded that the welfare department—and not the health department—takes care of cases requiring medical treatment; for needy individuals. Dr. Blackburn's department is almost entirely limited to preventive steps for protection of the public health.

He said one of the most serious problems existing at this time arises from careless installation and planning of septic tanks. Leist said special efforts are made to have this matter given particular attention in the city area.

happens Czechoslovakia and Albania to a new election, under the supervision either of the signatories to the Yalta Agreement or the United Nations.

The effect of that could be that Russia could lose one or more of these satellites. It might change the political map of Europe.

It is impossible to believe that Russia will agree to such terms short of an all-out war. Yet, it would be unbelievable that General Eisenhower would ask for less in any statement of his maximum terms.

As regards his demand for "a practical system of inspection under the United Nations," this is a reiteration of the Baruch proposal concerning the atom bomb and is absolutely sound. Any retreat from such inspection would vitiate the entire program.

No nation can be trusted, in the present circumstances of an armed world, to police itself, particularly with regard to a disarmament program.

After World War I, Germany was disarmed; yet Hitler built an effective army, stockpiled for a six-year war. After the Washington Conference (1922), Japan was supposed to reduce her fleet to a ratio of 5-5-3.

Actually Japan built a secret fleet which proved to be effective for a time in World War II.

Inspection is an essential instrument of world peace and the President was wise in restating it in his terms.

County Officials Plan Hearing On Tangled Bypass Measure

All interested parties in the legalistic tug-of-war over the Route 23 bypass are assured of at least one more public hearing here before the issue can be moved into conclusive stages.

Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer said he will advise that such a hearing be held at the proper time even though it may not be required by statute.

"In view of the high interest and importance of the matter to Circleville," he said, "it seems only reasonable that this should be done."

County officials assumed central roles in the long controversy when City Council, at its last meeting, approved a "bypass ordinance" of challenged legality. The action, in effect, leaves a legal knot for the county to untangle—turning a normally routine county sanction into a move which could either put the bypass plan in the clear or toss it back into Council's lap again.

Present controversy centers on a petition of property owners which forms the heart of the "bypass ordinance"—actually a measure to approve withdrawal of a section of the city limits.

DIFFICULT DECISION facing the commissioners, after the city action becomes effective in 19 days, will be to say whether the property owner petition represents a majority of the freeholders affected by the proposed bypass route. Councilman George Crites, spokesman for the anti-bypass forces, protested the petition failed to do this and that the ordinance was invalid.

However, Council passed it anyway after hearing City Solicitor George Gerhardt advise that it seemed to be a question to be settled by county officials.

At least three complicating actions by the rival groups are currently adding to the county's task, already looming as a difficult one if some of the property deeds prove hard to trade. Forces fighting the state's offer to build and maintain the bypass around the western side of the city are using two-way strategy to embarrass those in favor of the highway change.

Foes of the bypass have apparently succeeded in having some names withdrawn from the first petition and are trying to cancel some others. Meanwhile, it is widely known steps are also contemplated to increase the number of property owners—and voters on the issue—merely by "splitting up" certain holdings along the bypass zone.

Moving to counteract this two-way strategy, boosters for the proposal to take Route 23 from Court St. are seeking new property owner signatures to fill in gaps on their petition.

One of several other claims seeking to derail the bypass effort is that the petition was not filed legally in the first place and that Council's recent action could mean nothing anyway.

BEYOND THE next showdown meeting—this time to be under court auspices—court action is threatened by both sides if necessary.

Man Turns Pup Into Flaming Torch

YOUNGSTOWN, O. — A 19-year-old foundry worker was charged with cruelty to animals here today after he allegedly poured kerosene over a stray dog befriended by foundry workers and made a flaming torch of the pup.

The mongrel got his noon meal daily from lunch pail scraps and was accepted as a plant pet at the United Engr & Foundry Co.

Paul G. Leasure is charged with taking animal to a remote corner of a scrap yard, pouring a pop bottle full of kerosene on the dog and igniting the fuel. After the flames died out Leasure began burying the dog, even though merciful death had still not come. A plant policeman's bullet finished the pup.

City Residents, Concerns Asked To Help Adjustment Of Sewers

Ervin Leist, manager of Circleville's water and sewage department, Monday listed important regulations on the use of the city sewer system. City expansion planners have long recognized that success of their efforts will depend largely on the ability of the sewer network to stand the strain of a larger municipality.

It was this realization in part that led city officials to approve plans for a general survey of the sewer system by a Columbus firm of consulting engineers.

Calling attention to certain abuses in use of sewer facilities here, Leist reminded business firms and home owners that City Ordinance 2023 prescribes the proper uses of that type of service. He asked for general cooperation.

Ignorance or neglect of these regulations, he warned, have brought about problems that may seriously handicap city expansion blueprints, as well as the city's rating under state anti-pollution standards.

FOR DOMESTIC purposes, to tap any sewer requires a special permit, issued by the service director. Actual installation of the tap, or connection, is a function of the department of public service. No other person, firm or corporation is authorized to do that specific part of a sewer installation.

The only wastes permitted to be discharged to the sanitary sewer system are defined in Section 3, of Ordinance No. 2023 as follows:

"Sewage, including wastes from water closets, urinals, lavatories, sinks, bath tubs, showers, laundries, cellar floor drains, garage floor drains, bars, soda fountains, cuspidors, drinking fountains, and other objectionable wastes shall be discharged only into sanitary, or combined, sewer, and in no case into a storm sewer."

Section 3 of the same ordinance further prescribes: "Surface water, rain water from roofs, subsoil drainage, building foundation drainage, cistern overflow, clean water from condensers and air conditioners, and any other clean and unobjectionable waste water shall be discharged into a storm sewer (or combined) and in no case into a sanitary sewer."

"Connection from a cesspool, septic tank, or privy vault shall not be made into any sewer whatsoever."

"A trap for the interception of grease and/or oil shall be provided on a connection from a hotel, factory, grain mill and/or elevator, restaurant, club, or institutional kitchen and from a public garage, filling station, or automobile washing station. Such trap shall be subject to approval of the director of public service."

"It shall be unlawful for any person, or persons, to discharge into a house sewer or to tap a house sewer for the purpose of discharging into it, any waste or drainage water prohibited by the provisions of this section. Any existing connection in violation of the provisions of this section shall be abandoned and/or removed."

SECTION 6 PROVIDES that: "Any person, firm or corporation who violates any provision of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than five dollars nor more than $100 for each offense, and a separate offense shall be deemed to have been committed each period of 24 hours such violation shall continue after a period of 30 days after the original conviction."

Leist said every home owner and business establishment should check drainage systems to avoid a penalty for any of the listed abuses. Any violations of the existing regulations will be revealed in the course of the survey already started.

Marriage Lasts For 77 Years

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Death has ended one of the world's oldest marriages.

The husband, Nils P. Jonsson, died yesterday at Asmundtorp, in South Sweden. His widow, Bothilda, is 103. Neither had ever been outside their tiny home village.

They were married 77 years ago, on April 12, 1876, the same year Gen. George Custer was massacred by Sitting Bull's Indian tribesmen.

One daughter born to the couple is still living. She is now 70. Two others have died.

Pentagon Tightens Security Rulings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even the military's top public relations officials may be left in the dark about some defense developments under a new Pentagon security order effective today.

The order was issued by Roger Kyes, acting secretary of defense during Charles E. Wilson's absence in Europe, and follows by one month Wilson's tightening up of information outlets to keep secrets from leaking.

The new directive says, in effect, that only officials authorized to know will be permitted to pass security data on to anybody else. The person who gives the information, not the one who receives it, will be responsible for deciding whether he should do so.

British Guiana Election Booked

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, (AP)—This small British colony on South America's north coast voted today in its first parliamentary elections under a new constitution.

Twenty-four members are to be picked from 131 candidates for four-year terms in the lower House of Assembly.

Abolition of literacy and property ownership voting requirements and the granting of voting rights to women were expected to bring out some 200,000 voters, a vast increase over the 25,000 or so who have voted in previous elections.

The nine members of the upper house, the State Council, will be appointed by the British governor.

THE SUPERIOR SEX

WE'VE NOW GONE FULL circle on the question of who wears the pants of modern civilization. When author Philip Wylie introduced the concept of "momism" in the late thirties, suggesting that ours was a matriarchal society with the ladies calling the turn, he was greeted with sneers of derision. Even when it was statistically shown that women owned the greatest proportion of American wealth, the superior male animal was still unmovable.

"Why shouldn't this be so," he snapped, "considering that we guys work ourselves into an early grave to gratify our women's every whim?"

Such self-justifying logic doesn't impress a British anthropologist who has just written a book contending that the female is, indeed, the stronger of the species. The scientist was attracted to the hypothesis 30 years ago when he observed that men's skulls were more ape-like than women's. Since then he has been assembling evidence to attest to "The Natural Superiority of Women"—as his volume is called.

He says that women are more intelligent, healthier and more emotionally stable than men. They recover faster from shock and illness and have shown considerably more durability than men in surviving such ordeals as concentration camp imprisonment and wartime bombings.

It's the author's thesis that childbearing has been the controlling factor in making women the superior sex. Men, he concludes, ought to acknowledge this supremacy and make the necessary adjustments. When the American man put woman on a pedestal, little did he realize that it was there she belonged all the time.

Thirty-four million American men are too fat, it is alleged. Those who made the survey evidently didn't have the courage to count women.

A statesman has been defined as a politician who is held upright by equal pressure from both sides.

There is reported to be a shortage of scientist in the United States. Also of left-handed pitchers with control.

Russia will be deviating from the Stalin line for a fact if it goes through with its announced intention to emphasize the love theme in future movies. "Good Ole Joe" always emphasized the "America is an ogre" theme.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The concessions made at Panmunjom are of great significance because should Russia reverse her policy from somewhat more friendly to altogether antagonistic, the Kremlin would have the advantage. What these concessions are, the American people do not know. The Eisenhower Administration can only be held responsible for what occurs after January 20, 1953.

One of the worst resolutions related to this subject was proposed in the United Nations on November 17, 1952, by India. A compromise plan was accepted by the United Nations General Assembly on December 3. The Indian resolution was opposed by Soviet Russia and Soviet China although India must be regarded as having favored both these countries. It was accepted by the United States to which India is antagonistic. The probability is that the Indian resolution was a trick to bind the United States while leaving Russia free to pursue her own course.

The original Indian proposal, which was eventually revised, was that all Korean War prisoners be repatriated after an armistice;

Repatriation be arranged by a commission of two Communist states (Czechoslovakia and Poland) and two neutral nations (Sweden and Switzerland) with an "umpire" named by the General Assembly if the Repatriation Commission deadlocked after three weeks of talk;

Status of prisoners not determined by the Repatriation Commission 90 days after an armistice should be referred to a political conference called under the draft armistice pact already agreed upon by both sides at Panmunjom.

Senator William F. Knowland, the most expert Senator in Far Eastern affairs, opposed this resolution. On this subject, on November 28, 1952, I wrote:

"The State Department could not accept this proposal without outraging every sentiment in the United States. The Indians modified their formula to meet American objections and the Russians rejected the whole business. The Conservative government of Great Britain is being pressed to the wall by Leftist opinion in Great Britain, which is not only anti-American but would placate Soviet Russia in the hope that East-West trade may save the British economy which is in a shatterable condition.

"This is a tough situation of our own making. Carelessly, the State Department and President Truman have pursued a course the end of which can only be defeat. President-elect Eisenhower and his Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, may have a plan for saving our dignity and honor, but it will be extremely difficult. The danger is that before the new Administration takes over, the situation can become worse."

What has been done during the 18 months of conversation at Panmunjom has been withheld from the American people. That concessions of a permanent nature have been made is reported, but the details have been withheld for security reasons, which is nonsense because both the Russian and Chinese governments are familiar with them, having been parties to the negotiations. The "security" element in this is (Continued on Page Eleven)

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

I PULLED the guy down on top of me, but she drove her knees into my stomach like runaway pistons until I rolled over and got her beneath me. There was no sound from her during his, only the hissing, gasping noise of her breathing, and a low, animal-like moan that seemed to be forced through clenched teeth. Finally, I got both of her hands in mine and rolled her onto her stomach, locking her arms behind her back. She tried to twist away from me, but I tightened the grip on her arms, and put my weight down on the back of her flailing legs.

"Cut it out," I said. "Stop it." There wasn't much point to her efforts now, but she kept at it desperately, swearing in a low, raging voice. I twisted her wrists until she stopped swearing and began to whimper softly, the struggles stopped, and her body went limp.

I let her go and stood up slowly, prepared for another explosion, but she lay still, crying quietly. I snapped on the desk lamp.

She was lying with her cheek pressed to the carpet, her arms sprawled at her sides, a slim red-head in a black suit and ankle-strap sandals.

She was the girl from the Star, the bouncy, excitable Margo.

I knelt beside her and turned her over on her back.

"What do you want here?"

"You've got to help. Please." The bouncy gaiety was gone; she trembled uncontrollably, her face strained and white. "I'll do anything you want, anything."

Then I got it. The hopped-up excitement and now this desperation added up to only one thing: addict.

"You need a shot, eh?"

"Please, help me." She struggled to a sitting position and caught my hands. "I'll take care of you, do anything you want."

"What's the matter? Broke?"

She began to cry. "They keep me that way. My salary used to cover it, but they've jacked up the prices. It's pay up or go without it."

"How much do you need?"

"Seventy-five dollars. I'll—I'll make it up to you if you help me."

I thought it over for a few seconds, while she watched me as gladiators must have watched Roman emperors who could save or destroy them with the gesture of a perfumed hand. Finally I said, "I'll help you if you play ball with me, Margo."

"Anything," I told you that."

"Okay, you'll get the dough. But I want the truth from you, and some help."

"You're not lying to me?"

"No, you can trust me. First, what are you doing here?"

"I used to give Janey information to pick up extra cash," she said, holding my hands now with the strength of a frightened child. "I had to have the money, and she was good for it."

"What kind of information?"

"Anything about dope. Names, addresses, the price I paid for it. Anything."

"And why did you come here tonight?"

"She kept the information in a book. I thought if I could find it—" She shook her head. "I was grabbing at straws. I thought I could sell it, or something."

"Who do you get the stuff from?"

"A guy named Joe. That's all I know about him. I call him, and he meets me."

"Okay, get up, Margo." She stood and leaned against me weakly. "You got to help me," she said. "You promised."

"Don't worry," I said. "You'll get the dough."

That calmed her down. I went over and looked through Janey's thumbing correspondence, bills, shopping lists. "What kind of a book was it?" I asked.

"A loose leaf folder with black covers."

My search was pointless, I knew. The person who'd been here before me had been on his way out when I arrived. That meant he'd got what he wanted, and that was probably Janey's book.

I went into the bedroom, snapped on a light and found my grip. When I came back I touched the red-head's arm. "Let's go."

We went down to the street and started for the nearest intersection. "The money. What about it?" the red-head said, in a tight, pleading voice.

"You're going to earn it," I said.

"I got to have the shot first. I wouldn't be any good to you now."

"That's not what I've got in mind. Now listen hard. We're going to a drug store. You call Joe, tell him to meet you with the stuff. Got that?"

"What about the money?"

"You'll have it. You tell Joe this. Tell him the last stuff he gave you made you sick. Got that?"

It made you sick. You went to a doctor and he said you'd been poisoned. Understand?"

"You're pushing me into trouble. They—they'll cut me off if I lie to them."

"The deal is off then," I said.

She caught my arm, digging her nails into my flesh. "No, you promised. I'll do what you want."

I'd never been any madder. At the rack I had her on, at the men who'd built that rack. "Okay, you tell him the stuff made you sick, that's all."

"I'll tell him. I'll tell him what you want."

We caught a cab to a drug store, and Margo made her call. It was a quick one, and I stood in the door of the phone booth, listening to it. She said, "It's Margo. Meet me at Elm and Michigan. Yeah, I got it." Her voice went up a notch, and I saw her knuckles written on the phone. "Honest, Joe. I got it, honest."

After that she hung up, and went outside. I knew where Elm and Michigan was, just a block from my hotel.

"He said wait an hour," she said.

"Okay, you keep the date."

"Give me the money now."

"I counted out seventy-five dollars, and she grabbed it from me the way a drowning man would snatch at a life raft."

"I understand the pass you made at me the other night," I said. "For a while I thought it was my sheer, animal-like appeal."

"I tried to line you up. With Janey gone I needed help."

"Why don't you get one guy and stick to him? You could do a lot to make an old man's declining years delightful. A rich old man, anyway."

"I'm no good to a man anymore. I'd lie to him, cheat him, double-cross him, anything to keep my hands on money."

"Why don't you quit? They have institutions, clinics, places like that."

She shuddered slightly. "Not for me. Straitjackets. Padded cells. Hours in the tank wrapped up in wet sheets so you can't move a muscle. You can scream yourself silly, and they send a nurse to tell you to shut up."

"You read that in some cheap book. They aren't like that at all."

"I'll quit, all right," she said, and began to laugh tensely. "I'll quit when I die."

A cab came along and I put her into it. "Be at Michigan and Elm in half an hour," I said. "If you cross me up you're killing a golden goose."

"I'll be there." The cab shot off, as if prodded by the sharp, hysterical edge on her voice.

I went to my motel, dropped my grip in my room and headed for Elm and Michigan, the comfortable weight of the thirty-eight dragging at my left shoulder.

It had begun to rain by the time I got there, a drizzling, steamy rain that put coronas of misty whiteness around the street lamps, and dripped depressingly through the trees lining the boulevard. There was a tailor shop on one corner, and a large apartment building on another, and it was there I took up a post, standing in the shadows of the entrance, my coat collar turned up against the rain.

There weren't too many pedestrians out; a man in a slicker came by, leading a French poodle, and a few couples passed me, their heads bent into the rain, and hurrying to get off the street. I smoked cigarette and checked over my plans.

They weren't spectacular. My idea was to follow Joe after he got the news that his junk had made the red-head sick. That should lead me to the next in line, the dog above Joe. The report would cause a stir in town—and in the confusion, in the checking and rechecking that would have to be done, I might find the guys I was looking for, the big boys who ran the city's dope racket.

At first glance that statement may sound to the uninitiated as something Einstein might have dreamed up. It's really as simple as apple pie (any left from last night, Mom?)

Dr. Stare says that by nibbling between meals a person loses his appetite for dessert and, as result, takes fewer calories aboard. He also says those eating a hearty breakfast are more apt to keep slim. Ah, there sure is good news tonight!

news behind the news

WASHINGTON, April 27—Responsible spokesmen for the twenty South American republics cannot admit it openly, but they are not altogether satisfied with President Eisenhower's decision to send his brother to them as a good will ambassador. They need more substantial help than Ike's young kinsman, Milton, can offer them as an offset to growing Communist infiltration from the Rio Grande to the Magellan Straits.

The Latins have been loaded down with big-name visitors from the United States in the last 25 years, including three presidents and several secretaries of state.

All have proclaimed their friendship and admiration for our continental cousins, and given pledges of greater cooperation than we have shown in the past. FDR capped these professions with the so-called "good neighbor" policy. Cordell Hull strove earnestly to make that program a reality.

EMBITTERED — But the fact remains that relations between these countries in our own back yard and the United States are becoming more embittered every day. Whether the hostility toward us be labelled as Communism, Peronism or just plain anti-Yan-qui-ism, a wave of ill feeling toward us is sweeping the area. Although the historic and emotional resentment of "American imperialism" lies behind this prejudice, it has been fanned by economic neglect of them since World War II. The Latins feel that the United States "used them" when we needed them, and tossed them aside when the world crisis passed.

AID SKIMPY — Although the Truman Administration poured out almost $40 billion in postwar aid throughout the globe, the twenty South American republics received less than $1 billion. There have been attempts to shut off their exports to this country, to knock down the prices on their goods in world trade, and to impose harsh terms on public and private loans.

The reaction has been anti-American demonstrations, expropriation of foreigners' property, refusal to give us air bases for safeguarding the Panama Canal. The Latins have provided almost no military assistance in Korea or elsewhere.

FUTURE POLICY — Recent Eisenhower-Dulles proclamations on future South American policy will plague Brother Milton on his gladhanding tour. Although the administration plans to increase its military and economic contributions in the Middle East and Indochina, it has warned that even the slim pickings for South America will be reduced. It is, perhaps, one of the important blunders at Washington, although overshadowed by more clamorous developments overseas.

What the South Americans want as a sign of North American sincerity is a study of its needs and possibilities by a capable commission, such as Ike has named to survey so many domestic problems. Officially and unofficially, our few friends in office there have suggested a Hoover-style body of businessmen, industrialists, bankers, engineers and policy-making officials from Washington.

REQUIREMENTS — Milton Eisenhower hardly meets those requirements. From Coolidge's day until 1942, when his brother had become famous, he served as a press agent in Agriculture. During the expansive, Wallace-Tugwell regime, he conceived the idea for the office of land coordinator, which would try to make sense of his two superiors' various experiments. He promoted himself to the position. He is new president of Penn State College.

The Latins will welcome and honor him in their usual lavish manner, as they have other big-name Americans from the North. But they do not regard his coming as assurance that Washington recognizes them as equals, although a bit down at the heel at the present moment. In their opinion, they are being given a smile and a pat on the back—again—when they need more solid sustenance.

ATOMIC ENERGY — Rep. W. Albert Cole intends to make every member of House and Senate more atom-minded. The new chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy believes that too much secrecy has surrounded the subject of atomic development.

Cole thinks that every member of Congress should inform himself on current and prospective development by attending at least one actual demonstration on Yucca Flats or elsewhere. He feels that they should study experiments for peacetime harnessing of this new source of power, light and heat. Both his predecessors—the late Brien McMahon and Senator Hickenlooper—were bush-bushers.

'Still Life' Heralded Top Work

1st Spring Exhibit Of Art League

Overheard comment from the general public, along with a few individual and anonymous selections upon request, apparently gave top recognition in the Cincinnati Art League's Spring exhibit to "Still Life," an oil painting by Mrs. Henry Schroeder.

Rated a strong runner-up, however, with the possibility of a claim on equal laurels, was "Along Scippo," a water color by H. E. Montelius.

No award was involved and no expert study or comparison of the exhibit's many entries was attempted. Recognition was only on the basis of casual comments overheard among the viewers, and on a few individual and anonymous selections. Time for compiling the cross-section of opinion was brief, and the results made no claim to artistic qualifications.

The Art League's three-day exhibit ended Sunday night in the main floor corridor of Pickaway County courthouse. Viewers representing both the general public and local artists were outpoken in their praises of the standards set by the annual show this year.

ESPECIALLY noteworthy for all was the brilliant work exhibited by Leslie Cope of Roseville, professional artist and guest exhibitor of high national rank. In justice to district artists, his entries were considered apart from the others in the show. Many persons made no pretense at judging the exhibit's professional qualities.

"Still Life" appeared to be a definite favorite among the casual visitors. The artistic-minded also pointed it out as being superior.

However, its margin of top recognition apparently was not as clear-cut when studied from the viewpoint of "The picture I'd most like to take home with me." In this respect, "Along Scippo" seemed to have more friends, which may have earned it equal laurels on the basis of overall preference.

Third place honors apparently were more established, going on the unofficial basis to "Boat Basin—New Orleans," an oil by Ruth Montelius.

Entries by the Junior Art League members received such general commendation that none of the works could justly be rated outstanding without a study by qualified artists. Virtually all of the youngster paintings and sketches received laudatory notice, especially "Autumn," an oil by 15-year old Gail Dunlap, and "The Burrs," a charcoal sketch by Stevie Hedges, 8.

A VARIETY of overheard comments, while frequently reflecting the inexperienced tastes of the viewers, demonstrated at the same time the public's keen interest in the annual exhibition.

The snowflakes in "Safe-kept Memory" by Mrs. W. W. Robinson stirred at least one whispered controversy between two women visitors. One felt the snowflakes "spoiled it all," and the other insisted "snow looks exactly like that—and I think it's beautiful."

"Old Cape Cod Light" held special appeal above all others for those who said they could recall New England's seacoast, either from former residents or tourist travels.

"Stolen Fruit," by Mrs. Edwin Bach Jr., had particular attraction for some who know the carefree ways of puppies in a flower garden.

A pair of viewers stopped to comment on the "splendid effect" they saw in "Desert Flowers," by Mrs. Orin Clarke Stout.

Undisputed claimant to grin-provoking honors went to "Hoghouse at Midnight," a work by an unlisted artist who captured the theme of the county's best known "flying saucer" account. Some viewers, recalling the authentic report which spawned the idea, hesitated to approve it as a form of "making fun." Others, however, who appeared in the majority, thought it a worthy bit to furnish the exhibit's lighter touch.

In addition to the show's paintings, a carved leather scrapbook cover by Russ McFarland drew high praise.

8 Children Die In Home Blaze

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (P)—Eight children perished in a week end fire here.

Five of the eight were children of Philip and Winifred Derry, who suffered severe burns in a futile rescue attempt. They were Dorothy, 7; Reginald, 5; Clifford, 4; Eleanor, 3; and John, 1½. The other three, visiting cousins of the Derry children, were children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trudell: Wilma, 14; Marion, 10, and Diane, 9.

Iranian Queen Arrives In Rome

ROME (P)—Iran's young Queen Soraya arrived in Rome today to receive medical treatment. Her husband, the Shah, remained in Iran.

Later the 21-year-old queen may visit Spain. A court spokesman in the Iranian capital said yesterday she would stay in Europe more than two months. The nature of her ailment was not disclosed.

WINSTON CHURCHILL, 78, Prime Minister of Great Britain, is shown in this composite photo as he would probably look if he were wearing the robes of the Garter. "Winnie" became Sir Winston when he was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II in Windsor Castle, London, as a member of "The Most Noble Order of the Garter." His wife will be Lady Churchill. The order is headed by the Queen.

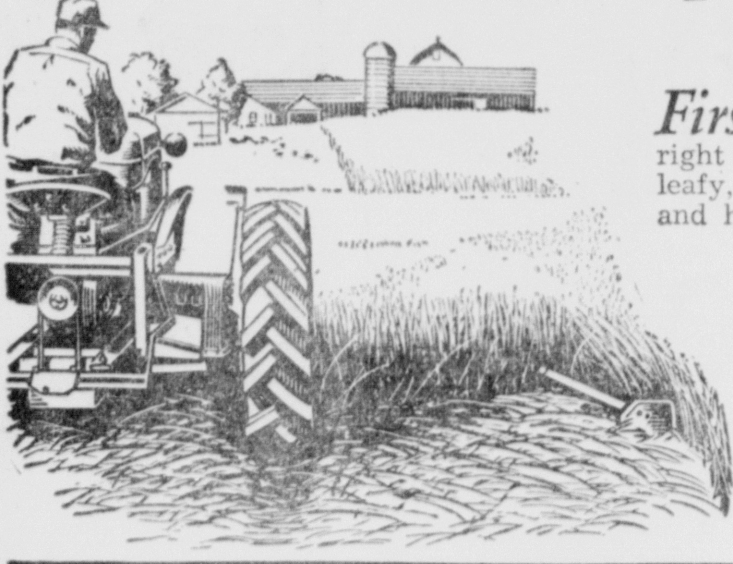

CIO Labels Ike's Policy 'Liberal'

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower, in a letter to CIO President Walter Reuther, has pledged every useful step against "the stupidity of mass unemployment."

The letter, in reply to one Reuther wrote the President April 6, was hailed by the CIO News Saturday as "a clear outline for a liberal economic philosophy."

Launching Nears For Fishong II, Cabin Craft Built By Mason Young

When the Fishong II knifes through the blue of Buckeye Lake "with a bone in her teeth" later this month it will mean another Circleville craft has been added to the popular resort's summertime fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Young plan to take their new 20-foot cabin cruiser to the lake for launching in about a week. A bottle of champagne especially for that event was already aboard Saturday while the cruiser was being fitted to its trailer in the rear of the Young residence here.

With a seven-foot beam and weight estimated around 1,200 pounds, the craft is almost entirely the handwork of Young himself. Except for the hull and cabin, he designed and built all of it, discarding a set of plans when he found them faulty or contrary to what he wanted.

Trim in gleaming white and tan, the mahogany plywood cruiser has ample facilities for luxury living afloat including dockside refrigeration connections and bottle gas for cooking.

THE CABIN interior affords comfortable seating room for at least six persons. Bunk room inside the cabin can be supplemented by cots on deck.

A large windshield for the craft's "flying bridge" was yet to be attached when the vessel was moved out into the alley behind the Young home. "We ran out of ceiling in the garage," her builder explained.

Mrs. Young explained how work had been started on the cruiser around the time of the 1952 Pumpkin Show.

"I had been yelling for a cabin cruiser," she laughed, to take the place of a fishing boat they formerly owned. They had named the boat the Fishong—as partial combination of the family names Fissell and Young—and "it just seemed natural the cabin cruiser should be the Fishong II".

The cruiser will carry a 25-horsepower motor, of special cruiser type, controlled from the deck.

Mrs. Young said she and her husband know many of their friends are awaiting the formalities of the launching. Final details for the event are yet to be arranged.

Blue Flame Show Boat Theme To Open 1953 Cooking School

3-Day Program Begins Here Tuesday Night

Memories of the old-time River Boat shows will be revived in Circleville Tuesday when the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. opens its 1953 version of the Gasco Food Institute in Memorial Hall.

Entitled "Blue Flame Show Boat," the traveling cooking school presents real drama in the kitchen. River Boat costumes worn by the cast add color to the lively activities in the opening performance.

Ohio Fuel is presenting the all new institute Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in cooperation with The Circleville Herald and local merchants. All three sessions will begin at 8 p. m. daily.

The show's spotlight will be on the two CP (cooking perfection) gas ranges, and, as the lecturer will point out, the homemaker is the heroine of the kitchen drama.

"BLUE FLAME Show Boat" has four acts, each dramatizing the appetite appeal of well-cooked and well-balanced meals. Three of the acts deal with cooking on different areas of the gas range. The fourth offers unusual food dishes in which the Servel gas refrigerator plays a major role.

A villain, always present in the old-time Show Boat melodramas, attempts to foil the cooking demonstration by stealing vital ingredients. But his villainous work only shows the versatility of the institute's recipes and modern gas ranges.

In one instance, an unusual substitute for milk is used to make a cake and aluminum foil is used to heat frozen vegetables in place of a pan pilfered by the institute manager, who plays the villain.

A silent partner in the show and in many family kitchens throughout the country is the Servel gas refrigerator which many an old-time river boat trouper would have been glad to have in his cast. Aunt Ginny's Peach Blossom Dessert is prepared through the benefits of the dependable refrigerator.

Other dishes, like green-minted apples, ham cornettes and snickerdoodles, keep the river boat theme running through the show.

The automatic gas clothes dryer, displayed in the institute for the first time this year, gives a sterling performance during the show.

When the "Blue Flame Show Boat" pulls up its gang plank and heads down the river, many pleasant features of new and delicious recipes will have been demonstrated through the use of modern automatic gas ranges and the Servel gas refrigerator.

Circleville merchants cooperating with The Herald and the gas company in presentation of the big, new 1953 cooking school are:

Legion Unit Checks On Aid Equipment

Persons who have borrowed wheel chairs, hospital beds, crutches and similar aids from Circleville American Legion and Auxiliary are asked to return the equipment or report immediately how much longer it may be needed.

James P. Shea, in charge of this service offered by the local Legion post, said:

"To make certain all our records are up-to-date, we have decided to check on the present use of equipment loaned out to handicapped persons in Pickaway County.

"Rather than undertake individual notices to all of those known to be using such equipment, we are asking instead that they report immediately on when the equipment can be returned.

"This more rapid procedure will also facilitate our efforts to oblige others who may wish to use the wheel chairs, hospital beds and crutches owned by the Legion post."

Shea's offices are located in Pickaway County Courthouse.

Careful About Jobs At Kremlin

KREMLIN, Okla. (AP)—Tourists pass daily through this city and smirk at its name.

But residents here refused to get red-faced.

They explain Kremlin is a breed of saddle horse, as well as a place in Russia. They add not only was the town named after a horse, but it was named by the daughter of a "capitalist" railroad executive who admired that particular kind of horse back in 1894.
